TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 15.—"Col. Lindbergh has not heard from the kidnapers of his child, either directly or indirectly, since they left that ransom note in the nursery almost two weeks ago."

Since curly-haired Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was wafted so mysteriously from his crib, Col. Lindbergh has been in constant touch with four of his closest friends. They have maintained a silence out of deference to his confidence but early this morning one of them spoke.

Lindbergh is a man who has thousands of acquaintances but very few friends. His reserved nature, his natural shyness and his innate aversion to exposing his true feelings have all combined to make him a stranger even to those who thought they knew him.

Uncertain And Bewildered.

He has unburdened his heart only

Old time gardeners inform us that Thursday, March 17, or St. Patrick's Day, is the proper time to plant sweet peas, but we would like to see someone do it. About the only thing that could be planted now would be grass seed, poppy seed, or some other hardy plant whose seed can be scattered on the snow.

North Dakota Vote Attracts Interest

(International News Service)

BISMARCK, N. D., Mar. 15.—North Dakota was the nation's political cynosure today as citizens went to the polls to vote in Republican and Democratic primary elections.

The Democratic arena attracted chief interest for there Governor William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Oklahoma, was waging a spirited battle against the forces supporting Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, as the party's presidential nominee.

Democratic voters were to choose between a set of Roosevelt delegates to the national convention at Chicago in June and a group of delegates pledged to Murray. North Dakota is entitled to ten delegates.

The official support of the state Democratic party has already been thrown to the New York executive who was favored by a resolution of endorsement adopted by the state convention.

HEAR FINAL ARGUMENTS ON P. & L. E. APPLICATION FOR CHANGING STATION

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 15.—The highly controversial issue involving location of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad passenger station in the city of New Castle today was finally before the Public Service Commission for a settlement.

Concluding arguments on the question were heard by the commission en banc late yesterday afternoon as the climax to a series of lengthy hearings in Pittsburgh at various times last December and January.

Attorney John J. Heard, counsel for the railroad, told the commissioners that discontinuance of the shuttle line between New Castle and New Castle Junction and joint use of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station in the seventh ward would "put New Castle on the map and give the city the type of station it deserves."

However, Attorney Robert J. Wallace of New Castle, representing the organization of taxpayers and residents appearing for two industrial protestants, declared location of the station in Mahoningtown would result only in an "added inconvenience" to patrons.

Reviews Case.

Heard reviewed in great detail for the commission growth of the movement to vacate the Erie railroad station on West Washington street, now used by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and move the station to the seventh ward after certain improvements were made to the Baltimore & Ohio station there.

"The railroad assumed it had the full cooperation of the city but later a discrepancy of opinion developed on the question of whether change in the station as proposed by the railroad would be beneficial," Heard said.

The railroad attorney outlined the advantages of using the Baltimore & Ohio station as follows:

"Residents of New Castle have always protested that their station was not located on the main line of

No Direct Evidence.

No direct evidence that ransom had been demanded, supporting the extortion theory, has been presented by any of the nine witnesses for the state.

Aged Woman Is Carried From Burning Home

Miss Anna E. McBurney Is Rescued By Firemen In Blaze This Morning

OVERHEATED FURNACE IS CAUSE OF FIRE

Miss Anna E. McBurney, aged 92, narrowly escaped asphyxiation, in a fire which damaged the home of the McBurney sisters at 340 East Moody avenue at 9:15 this morning.

Miss Anna McBurney and her sister Miss Ella J. McBurney were alone in the home at the time the fire started. Miss Ella McBurney had arisen a short time before and had gone to the basement to stir up the fire. She later prepared breakfast for herself and sister and was ready to call her to eat, when she noticed the home filling with smoke.

She called Central fire station telling them the house was afire, and an alarm was turned in from Box 213 at the corner of Moody and Delaware avenue.

The Second ward department answered along with the "B" truck from Central station. When firemen arrived on the scene the house was filled with smoke, and Miss Ella McBurney was assisted from the home by Fireman Samuels of No. 2 department and neighbors.

Miss Anna McBurney was forgotten for the moment in the excitement, and when firemen asked if there was anyone else in the house, it was recalled that the elder sister had not been taken out.

The smoke was so dense by that time, that it was impossible to enter through the door of the home, and firemen placed a short ladder to the window of Miss McBurney's bedroom. She was found near the door, trying to get out through the hallway, and was carried to the window by Fireman White and handed out to James Stockman, who carried her to safety.

Firemen placed two lines of hose through the cellar windows and succeeded in knocking down the blaze in the flooring above the furnace, confining the fire to that portion of the house. The loss was approximately $100, Fire Chief Lynn stated, although there was a great amount of smoke caused by the blaze.

The home is a bungalow type of house at the corner of Moody and Logan street.

Miss McBurney was taken to the home of F. W. Pasco next door, where she is now recovering from the shock of her experience.

EIGHTEEN MEN GIVEN JOBS HERE ON MONDAY

Splendid results are beginning to manifest themselves in the unemployment campaign being waged by the American Legion. On Monday 18 men were sent out on jobs, a high spot in the campaign thus far. This brings the grand total for the campaign to date to about 80 men who have been given employment thru the "War Against Depression". Garland Crites, in charge of the bureau at 326 Neshannock avenue, reports an increasing demand for workers and many queries as what kind of work is possible of being done.

Today, E. W. Beadel, chairman of the canvass of the city, is listing ward chairmen who will have charge of the collection of circulars left in the homes of the city last Saturday. It was thought at first that the canvass could be made on Wednesday but the inclement weather has prevented that and the work will be done on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The ward chairmen will have district workers under them and thru this plan it is hoped that every home in the city will be visited and a definite program of repair work started over the entire city. The workers will have cards with them in case the circular and coupon has become lost and this card can be used for designating the kind of work to be done and the number of men needed.

A definite hourly rate of pay, much under the regular scale, has been agreed upon by the building trades workers which means that skilled labor will be available during this campaign at a price far under the usual rate.

In the meantime, workers of any kind can be secured by calling 472, he Legion unemployment headquarters at 326 Neshannock avenue.

East Siders Discuss School Problems And Plan Mass Meeting

Protesting against the proposal of the New Castle School board to eliminate the shops and home economics departments of the junior high schools, for the purpose of staying within the 16 mill tax levy, some sixty parents met Monday evening in the Bethany Lutheran church on East Washington street.

Some time ago some of the parents of Benjamin Franklin Junior High school students met informally and discussed the proposal. It was felt that the matter should be discussed before a group of representatives from various parts of the city and the meeting Monday evening was the result. It was not intended to be a public mass meeting, but was for the purpose of sounding out sentiment. At the close of the meeting it was decided to send a committee to the school board on Wednesday evening to ask for the Senior high school auditorium next Monday evening for a mass meeting, and to ask the board if it would call a special meeting within the next two weeks to meet with a special committee of the citizens.

Leonard Cramer Chairman

Leonard W. Cramer was the chairman of the Monday evening meeting and after an opening prayer by Rev. C. S. Joshua explained what the meeting was for. "Facing our problems" said Mr. Cramer, "we realize that we have no right to ask any association to do anything that will embarrass or criticize one half of its organization. The superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction has laid down two policies in connection with the schools and teachers, first that teachers salaries shall not be cut directly or indirectly, and the legal increases must be allowed. Second that teachers shall not be laid off."

"We are not opposed to increasing teachers' pay but we are opposed to giving raises at the expense of other teachers. We do not believe it sound economics at times like these to deprive thirty tax payers, mostly

Begin Drive In Senate For Test On Prohibition

Senate Committee Will Report Bingham Four Per Cent Beer Bill

ENCOURAGED BY VOTE IN HOUSE

Liberal Bloc At Work, But Has No Hope Of Winning Just Now

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—Encouraged by the tremendous wet gain in the House, the liberal bloc today began a drive for a record vote in the Senate on the question of legalized beer.

The liberals have no hope of winning this contest but they desire to show the country that their ranks are gaining in the Senate as well as the House. The drys, meanwhile will meet the test willingly, because they feel their secure majority in the Senate as well as in the House demonstrates the futility of trying to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment in the present generation.

Favorable Report

The wets will get a favorable report from the Senate manufactures subcommittee on the Bingham 4 percent beer bill, which was the subject of lengthy hearings. This subcommittee will recommend passage of the bill by a two to one vote, Senators Metcalf (R) of Rhode Island, chairman, and Bulkley (D) of Ohio favoring it while Senator Hatfield (R) of West Virgima opposes it. Metcalf announced he expected the subcommittee to report this week.

The Senate manufactures committee must then pass on the bill. It may render an adverse report but if it does so, the vote will be close, possibly as close as seven to six. Any kind of a report however will be welcomed by the wets, as their sole plan is to get the bill before the Senate for a record vote.

FREE GARDEN SEEDS WILL BE SUPPLIED

Red Cross Will Supply Several Tons Of Seeds

Secretary Potter Receives Word From National Headquarters Late Monday

EXPECTS TO GET SUPPLY OF WHEAT

Announcement was received from the National Red Cross in Washington late Monday that 600 cartons of garden seeds, 200 cartons more than were received last year, are being shipped to the chapter here for distribution among the unemployed.

This will insure an adequate supply of seeds for the garden project planned again this year, and will assist in supplying food for many families during the coming summer and fall.

Last year 400 cartons of seeds were received which were distributed among those who operated the community gardens and aided materially in helping many families through the summer and fall. Many were able to can food from these gardens to keep them through the winter with a little help.

The cartons this year will contain a larger variety of seeds than those sent out last year, the information from the National Red Cross states. Beans, corn, beets, carrots, spinach, mustard, cabbage etc., are contained in the packages.

Definite word that a shipment of wheat will be sent here is awaited daily by Mr. Potter who believes that Lawrence county will receive its share of the wheat held in storage by the government.

The garden seeds being sent here are coming by freight from Philadelphia and will be here within the next ten days. The seeds will not be distributed until time for planting, however.

It is believed that some plan similar to the community garden project of last summer will be worked out, whereby the seeds will be allotted to those who have ground, or who can secure a plot of ground, and who have it already prepared for planting. This was the plan adopted by the organizations which backed the garden project last summer and which proved highly successful.

Girl Scouts To Have Training At Grove City

Camp Leaders Will Have Week-End Of Training Early Next Month

April 1, 2 and 3 are the dates set for the Girl Scout week-end training camp councillors, directors and committee members, to be held at the Grove City Boy Scout camp.

Several of the local leaders who will have charge of the New Castle camp this summer will take the training, according to Miss Nance Pugh, director of the Girl Scout troops of New Castle, although no definite arrangements have been made as yet.

Thee week-end of training is considered of outstanding importance because it is the first time that anything of the kind has ever been sponsored by the region. Four or five similar training camps are being planned for this time in other parts of the region. (The region consists of all Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia.)

Miss Jeanne Christy, a member of the regional Girl Scout staff, will be in charge of the Grove City camp. A program of "camp organization", "responsibilities of the committees and directors" and practical work in "planning camp programs" will be presented during the three-day period. The purpose is to train camp directors and their assistants how to manage the summer camp program, etc.

The date for the training was formerly set for April 9, 10 and 11, but the time was moved to one week sooner.

the making. Of the 435 members of the house, 414 went definitely on record as to where they stand on the issue of re-submission. For many of them it was the first time they had been forced to state where they stood.

There were a good many quaking hearts today on both sides as the members realized that they must explain and defend their votes in their home districts in the approaching primaries and election. Of course, the big city districts are irretrievably wet and their representatives have little to fear, but their rural brethren, whether wet or dry, are in no such position.

Shift 27 Seats.

Re-apportionment under the 1930 census causes a shifting of 27 seats in congress, and in almost every instance the cities and big industrial centers gain at the expense of the rural districts. The wets claim they stand to gain some 25 votes as a result of this re-apportionment. They cite Michigan as typical. Michigan gains four members in the next congress because of population growth, and all of them will be elected from Detroit, which is a wet stronghold.

Additional Seats.

New Jersey and New York, both wet centers, also pick up additional seats. California alone gains nine additional congressmen, mostly from the southern end of the state, which probably is debatable ground as between wets and drys. But in any event, had the wets had those 25 votes they claim under re-apportionment in yesterday's test, the result would have been a majority of the house in favor of re-submission.

As for the drys, they are deeply concerned, but they are not dismayed. They rest their hopes on the fact it takes not a majority of both houses but two-thirds to re-submit. They don't believe the wets can muster two-thirds, nor that if they do two-thirds of the 48 states will repeal the 18th amendment.

the railroad, that it was an eyesore and constant source of embarrassment to visitors. The stop at New Castle Junction has been referred to as a 'jerkwater station' and now all the railroad seeks to do is place the station on the main line and put New Castle on the map."

Denies Contention.

Heard asserted that recent municipal growth in New Castle was towards the south, and towards the seventh ward where the station will be located should the commission approve the application. In this assertion, Heard was opposed by Wallace, who declared the city showed growth in every section but the south or Mahoningtown section. He declared Mahoningtown had showed no growth in the past 15 years.

Counsel for the railroad declared the West Washington street station must be abandoned because it is inadequate for the needs of the railroad and because operation of the shuttle line constitutes a highly unprofitable business which has resulted in a large loss to the line.

Answering Wallace's argument that use of the street car to reach the Baltimore & Ohio station consumed between 20 and 25 minutes, Heard said the wait at New Castle Junction to board main line trains was usually the same length of time. Persons in the northern section of the city can ride to the station in the seventh ward for the same fare they now spend to ride to the present station, he pointed out. In addition, the station can be reached by a new improved highway, Heard declared, and the railroad will provide parking facilities at the Baltimore & Ohio station for about 60 cars.

Attorney Heard declared that in 1931 gross revenue of the New Castle branch was $10,340, while the gross operating cost aggregated $105,000. Economies effected thru joint use of the Baltimore & Ohio station and discontinuance of the New Castle Junction shuttle line would have resulted in a saving of $93,937 to the railroad, offsetting the loss incurred in the present operation, counsel declared.

Answers Protests.

Answering the protest of the Interstate Creamery company, which in its complaint averred it was a substantial patron of the railroad and particularly the New Castle Junction branch, Attorney Heard asserted that in 1923 the protestant paid the railroad $173,000 in freight charges while last year its business with the railroad totalled $5,000. The attorney asserted the differences in the two sums plus a progressive increase represents the amount of business the railroad had lost to trucking companies.

Attorney Heard deprecated the claim of the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company, another protestant, which claimed its employes would suffer great inconvenience should the shuttle line be discontinued. Counsel for the railroad stated that of the 174 employes of the company, 20 used the shuttle line regularly to and from work, 30 walked and the remainder used their own automobiles or those of fellow workers.

"This company wants us to maintain the shuttle line so their car-driving employes will not be handicapped in rainy or stormy weather," Attorney Heard commented.

He further minimized the assertions of the company that salesmen would be deprived of easy access to the factory and that it was deprived of the advertising value of the proximity of its plant to the railroad lines so that passengers could see the factory as the train passed.

Imaginary Advantages.

Attorney Wallace, opening the case for the protestants, declared relocation of the station on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad offered only "imaginary advantages." He argued its location was "too remote and too far away from the center of population."

Protestants' counsel argued at great length that in tabulating profits and losses the railroad should not consider the New Castle Junction branch as an "isolated" line. He asserted it was in reality a "feeder" line which supplied great numbers of passengers for much longer hauls than the distance to the junction.

The proposed station would be located three miles from the center of the city, Attorney Wallace contended. He charged that the railroad conducted negotiations concerning the proposed change with business and civic officials while the "general public was uninformed until the hearings in Pittsburgh."

Articles Correct.

He further claimed that the news articles concerning plans for the proposed station as printed in the local newspaper "misled" the people. In rebuttal arguments, Attorney Heard asserted the article as printed in the newspaper was entirely correct and true in all details. He said while the railroad planned to expend $41,000 for improvements at the Baltimore & Ohio station, the remainder of the $250,000, which was to be expended according to the newspaper article, would be used to complete extensive track changes necessary to route the trains over the new lines in the seventh ward. He declared the picture as printed in the paper of the proposed improvements was likewise correct.

Commissioner S. Ray Shelby questioned Attorney Wallace closely concerning his statements with reference to the newspaper article. The attorney admitted that according to testimony in the case, the article was prepared and written from information supplied the New Castle News by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

Attorney Wallace pleaded that "now is not the time to discontinue service and place an added burden on persons already hard-hit by present conditions."

Faith in New Castle.

Voicing his faith in the city of New Castle as a progressive industrial and manufacturing center, Wallace declared that the return of prosperity would increase the revenue of the railroad and allow it to show a profit on the New Castle branch.

"Business is picking up. Ten additional mills of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company are now working and employ 800 more New Castle men," Attorney Wallace declared.

"New Castle has always been and always will be a prosperous city. It will again become the gold mine that it was for railroads with its huge freight business.

"To take away any convenience in service is to encourage private lines.

"If this application is granted, I predict that the results, in a false sense, will soon justify the discontinuance of service which the railroad now seeks."

The attorney pointed out that the railroad paid 20 per cent dividends in 1930 and 1931 and that its value had increased from $90,000,000 in 1916 to $143,000,000 at the present time. Attorney Heard said the dividends were paid out of surplus as a business stimulation measure and there was no guarantee that such dividend payments would be maintained without a substantial increase in traffic.

Attorney Wallace closed his arguments with a vigorous plea for refusal of the application of the railroad. Attorney Heard pleaded that the railroad was only seeking to give New Castle residents what they had demanded for many years and the line's efforts were now enmeshed in a local diversity of opinion.

Film Actress Wants Chance

Mary Nolan, Former Follies Beauty, Appeals For "Just One More Chance"

FACES JAIL TERM FOR LABOR TROUBLE

By WALLACE X. RAWLES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLWOOD, Mar. 15.—"I humbly ask Hollywood for just one chance to make good. I want to 'come back' in the movies."

Mary Nolan, film actress and once known as Imogene Wilson, Follies beauty, now facing a 30-day jail sentence for violating the state labor laws, made that plea today.

And the "Mary Nolan Fan Club" was organized to help the beautiful blond whose life has been tinged with tragedy since she was three years old, when her mother died.

So Many Barriers

"I know I am destined to prove to the world that I am an artist," Miss Nolan continued. "But there have been so many barriers.

"Homes of film people haven't been open to me since I arrived this time. I don't know why. They don't know the real Mary Nolan. Unpleasant incidents in my life have been given the publicity spotlight. Star after star has passed me on the wings of personal influence. But I don't want that kind of success. I want to make it for myself. And I can if I get just a fighting chance."

Plan For Appeal

Members of the "Mary Nolan Fan Club" planned to appeal to the court to suspend the jail sentence imposed in municipal court where the blond actress and her husband, Wallace Macreery, Jr., were found guilty of violating the state labor law in connection with deferred payment of $700 wages to employes of the defunct Mary Nolan Gown Shop in Hollywood.

"I'm not guilty of owing the man who claimed I did," Miss Nolan protested. "I'd rather go to jail for life than admit something of which I am not guilty. I never saw this man until he took the stand against me. All debts have been paid so that my film career won't be ruined.

"Out of it all I have learned this. That hereafter I shall stick to the one profession I know—Motion Pictures.

Oppose Proposed Shotgun Shell Tax

"It would be an outrage to place a federal tax of one cent on each shotgun shell" said O. H. P. Green, local sportsman and Andy Dodds, president of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association.

Recently an American association for the protection of migratory birds, such as wild ducks, proposed the imposition of a one cent tax on each shell.

Green said there are not more than 15 duck hunters in this vicinity and he cannot see why other hunters who do not hunt ducks should have to pay a tax for hunting rabbits, or shooting clay birds.

"If they wish a cent tax let them secure shells especially loaded for duck and pay a cent tax on those shells. But there should be no tax on shells used for the hunting of rabbits and such game" Green stated.

Pinchot Places Blame On Martin

Governor Contends 61,000 School Children In State Under Weight

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 15.—In a statement here today, Gov. Gifford Pinchot blamed General Edward Martin, the Republican state chairman, for the fact that a recent survey showed 61,000 Pennsylvania school pupils were under weight.

The governor's statement followed one made in Pittsburgh yesterday by General Martin in which he expressed willingness for a round-table conference on the necessity of calling a special session of the legislature to further aid the jobless.

General Martin yesterday emphasized the fact that such a conference would have to be non-political and with no one individual seeking political advantage from its outcome. He refused to commit himself regarding the passage of additional revenue-raising measures, proceeds of which would be used to aid the idle.

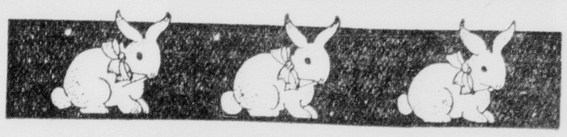

The present demand for another special session of the assembly has come mainly from Philadelphia where politicians, according to Governor Pinchot, have completely wrecked the financial structure of the city government. Politicians there are demanding that state funds be used to feed and shelter those for whom they are unable, under present conditions, to find jobs on the city payroll.

MID-WINTER PARTY FOR CIRCLE OF '91

Most attractive was the mid-winter party held by members of the Reading Circle of '91 Monday afternoon in the Green Room of the Y. W. C. A. This event, which took the form of a St. Patrick's affair, was featured with the serving of a delicious luncheon at 1 o'clock at tables beautifully arranged with clusters of the season's flowers and burning green tapers in crystal holders. Novel in keeping with the approaching holiday were found at the guests places, thus carrying out in every detail, the tone of green and white.

At conclusion of serving, roll-call was responded to with the singing of a song, the title being given the guests on a slip of paper. This caused much amusement. The remainder of the social period was spent informally with various games and contests, prizes going to Mrs. C. N. Lockhart, Mrs. W. H. Dunlap and Mrs. H. C. Mitchell.

This brought a most delightful party to an end, and a vote of appreciation was given the committee in charge who were responsible for its complete success, namely Mrs. J. A. Butler of Sharon, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Mrs. J. M. Blackwood, Mrs. W. T. Burns and Mrs. J. P. Caldwell.

The next regular session of the members will take place in two weeks at the home of Mrs. John Leonardson, 6 West Laurel avenue.

TUREEN DINNER FEATURES MEETING

Members of Court Theresa Irene of the Catholic Daughters of America enjoyed a most delightful evening Monday in the Knights of Columbus Home, North Jefferson street, when they assembled for a tureen dinner and business meeting.

Places were marked for the members at a long table beautified by a bowl of flowers and matching tapers and a delicious menu issued forth from the tureens prepared by the members.

Following dinner the grand regent, Mrs. E. J. Suber, called a business meeting and reports were heard from the welfare committee, which has been doing a great deal of relief work the past few months.

Mrs. Jennie Vallely was appointed chairman of the membership committee and plans were made for a card party March 28, with Mrs. Nell Hannon, Mrs. Mary Capitola, Mrs. Jennie Vallely, Mrs. Evelyn Woods, Mrs. Margaret Kelly and Mrs. Mary Krah as hostesses.

The door prizes of the evening were won by Mrs. Mary Geddes and Anna Sager.

Y. P. C. U. ANNUAL BANQUET-ELECTION

An interesting social event of Monday evening that proved a decided success was the annual banquet and election held by the Y. P. C. U. in the Third United Presbyterian church with an exceptionally good number in attendance.

Activities were in progress promptly at 6:30 o'clock with the serving of a sumptuous dinner in the church diningroom at tables beautifully appointed in tones of green and white. Various bouquets of carnations, and narcisus flanked with green foliage and tapers completed the attractive setting. The committee in charge of this part of the program included Kathryn Newberry, Arthur McNickle, Nettie Irene Mann, Edgar McCown, Ray Bates and Harold Scheidemantle.

Following, a program especially planned in celebration of the Washington Bi-centennial was presented, and Miss Jane Kyle, as toastmistress, introduced each participant in a clever manner. A guitar and mandolin selection was given by Benny and Carl De Carlo as the opening feature; In colonial costume appeared Ruth Lutz and Bruce Copeland who stepped the Minuet as "grandmother used to" which was too well received. Three boys gave original stories on George Washington, namely, Henry Lawton chose as his topic "Washington Boyhood Days"; William White told about "Washington As A Soldier" and Dale Johnston gave for his subject "Washington As President." The concluding number was a playlet by members of the L. D. K. Missionary Society which portrayed the colonial days.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. F. L. Black of the Oak Grove Presbyterian church was then introduced and he gave a splendid talk, the main thought being "to omit from body and mind things which mar character etc." that was received with much enthusiasm.

The returns were read by the nominating committee with Clair Alford being elected as president; Edgar McCown, vice-president; Annabelle Rogers treasurer; Edith Ziegler, secretary; Mabel Kocher, reporter; society superintendents elected, George Kyle, chairman; William White, and Herman Scheidemantle; corresponding secretary, Kathryn Hopper.

Pep singing lead by Clair Alford, assisted by Edis Brandon, Annabelle Rogers and William White kept the social hours livened up considerably.

Special guests of the evening were Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Colnot and Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Black.

Tables of 500 and bridge occupied the attention of the guests during the early hours, and at conclusion of this feature the guests were ushered into the spacious dining room, where they were given their places about a large table fittingly decorated. A birthday cake topped with lighted candles, surrounded by novelties in tones of green and white suggestive of St. Patrick's holiday, formed the centerpiece. Places were laid for 20 guests.

After partaking of a delicious collation served by Mrs. Badger, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Dick Nesbitt, the honored guest was presented with a number of lovely gifts in memory of the day. This was done in a clever manner.

Trophies for the cards contest were awarded to Mrs. Louis Lundeen and Miss Ruth Badger.

CLUB MEMBERS HEAR DR. ELMER

"The family is a permanent social organization, the result of the best thoughts and emotions, prayers and devotions of hundreds of years that have gone before" said Dr. John Elmer, professor of sociology, of the University of Pittsburgh, as he spoke before the members of the Woman's club in the Highland church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. A. B. Street presided at the business session and many matters of interest to the club members were brought up and discussed. Mrs. A. B. Vogan read the resolutions passed on the death of one of the members, Mrs. Robert L. Wallace; Mrs. W. A. Pond reported the slate of names chosen for the various officers by the nominating committee, these to be voted upon at the next meeting.

Mrs. C. B. Randalls recommended a number of articles for the club members to read and Mrs. John Madigan brought the "baby bonds" to the attention of the women. Mrs. H. M. Kirk invited the women to attend the recognition meeting, which will be held by the International Institute in the Y. W. C. A. on Monday, March 21, when the new citizens of the year will be publicly welcomed.

Mrs. W. L. Cosel spoke of the reiteration of the stand of the club in asking the Geneva conference to insist upon the reduction of arms in the world.

Mrs. F. C. Brenneman, chairman of the program committee introduced the speaker of the afternoon and in a most intimate, whole hearted manner, Dr. John Elmer spoke on "The Passing of the Red Table Cloth" as it related to the family life of the nation. He stated that the loss of the red table cloth and the gathering of the family about the table of an evening was symbolic of the change that is taking place all over the country.

"I was impressed with the editorial on this subject for the reason that the subject of family life is the core of the work I have been doing for the past twenty one years", said Dr. Elmer and in commenting upon the books that have been written on family life the past year, he said that the author was usually biased in his opinions by some phase in his own life or by the keynote of some peculiar trend in the mind of the author.

He then went into statistics that have been gathered by himself and colleagues over a period of years and maintained that the family life of today, while changed in many respects from that of fifty years ago, nevertheless shows no lessening; in fact, he stated there were more people getting married today, and staying married; the percentage of 1 of 100 marriages is greater than it has ever been.

He stated that the family life through the ages has been based on trial and error, with the best parts remaining today.

His talk was of a most interesting and enlightening nature and at the close he answered many questions from the women in regards to sociological questions.

VITAMIN B IN BRAN, RESEARCH REVEALS

Also Has "Bulk" to Further Assist Elimination, and Iron for Blood

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract, and promote elimination. Now, laboratory experiments show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, ALL-BRAN brings a plentiful supply of "bulk"—which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

Another healthful element brought by ALL-BRAN is iron. Tests show this cereal has twice as much usable iron as the same weight of beef liver.

Check common constipation—with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy—by eating this delicious cereal. How much pleasanter than taking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Unique favors were found at the guests places, numbering 40.

Following the serving of a delicious three-course dinner, tables of bridge and 500 were arranged and contests provided entertainment during the balance of the social period. Prizes were presented to Agnes Burns, Frances Wagner, Jeanne Remley, Irene Howells, Estella Laten, Mrs. Edna Emminger Longacre, Catherine Hannon and Lena Mack for capturing honors.

Success of the affair was due committee members who were: Decorations: Gertrude Else, Elizabeth McCullough and Enora Rudolph; luncheon: Irene Howells, Lena Mack and Gladys Lewis; entertainment: Dorothy Lee, Sallie Swisher and Mildred Shaw.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carson of the home economic department, assisted by Miss Mable Lach, prepared the menu. The affair was voted most enjoyable by those who participated.

DANDRUFF Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

PROHIBITION POLL IN CONGRESS

WHILE it could not be called exactly an out and out vote on the matter of Prohibition, yet the poll taken in the House of Representatives at Washington, yesterday, on the motion to consider the Beck-Linthicum "home rule" resolution submitting the question of the repeal of the 18th Amendment to the states in the spirit of a referendum, was the nearest thing to it that has been experienced in congress in the past 12 years, or since the 18th amendment went into effect.

The result, which showed that there were 187 votes for the measure and 227 against it, was regarded as a decisive victory for the drys. The vote was not partisan in any sense, the result showing that 97 Republicans were for the resolution and 112 against, while there were 90 Democrats for it, and 114 against.

Efforts have been in progress for weeks to force the vote that was taken yesterday, the anti-drys seeking to have a record vote so that congressmen would be placed on one side of the fence or the other just ahead of the lively campaigns for re-election of a large number of congressmen.

The result of the vote was a disappointment to the wets and a source of gratification for the drys. It revealed that despite the avalanche of "wet" propaganda that has been in circulation in the past few months that there is still a sizable majority in congress that is for the prohibition law and the eighteenth amendment.

One other result of the poll indicated that there has been a change in sentiment on the part of some members of congress. They seem to feel that there is a swing toward the wet side in their districts, and apparently are endeavoring to ride the bandwagon with the crowd. On the other hand, few of the real leaders in the dry cause have shown any change in their attitude, and voted as was expected yesterday.

With this poll having been forced, it is not to be believed that there will be no further efforts along this line at the present session. The fact that the wets have been able to force this vote will probably give them encouragement to continue along the same line in the hope of making gains.

But, the vote indicated that there shall be no retreat on the Prohibition front. Prohibition is here to stay!

THE SPRING HABIT

Spring is an untiring miracle no less so today than when men were more inevitably concerned with the seasonal moods of mother earth. The ancient mystery is renewed each year by which rich life and color and eager growth spring again from the winter-locked land. A few days of kindly sun and the resurrection is begun, the life restores, the world renewed with beauty.

Life endures the winter but blossoms with the spring. All things good and full of promise answer the warm welcome of a friendly sun. Because nature is grown again, the world is once more fruitful.

From this seasonal certainty we may pick a lesson. Men likewise grow better and work better in good weather. Hard times and harsh discipline, whether of men or circumstances, may test and toughen endurance and stiffen courage and fiber, but growth and usefulness flourish better in the warmth of good will and kindliness. These are the spring tonic of human life, which can awaken all its hidden powers and riches. We grow better, work better and are in all ways happier in the habit of mutual encouragement and the widespread warmth of genuine good will.

ULTIMATUMS AND SPRING CAMPS

One robin does not make a spring. Ducks, flying northward, are not the last word in weather wisdom and have been known to miss their guess and pay for their mistakes by going to bed cold and hungry. Even crocuses have been nipped for their boldness in sprouting too soon. Real, simon-pure proofs that spring is on the way are ultimatums and spring training camps.

By ultimatums is not meant those warlike memorandums that pass between nations carrying chips on their shoulders, but to the more fiercely worded final proposals that pass between recalcitrant baseball stars and baseball managers. When one sees an ultimatum dispatched from club headquarters to a big league pitcher or a world-renowned batter, then one knows spring is not far off.

Spring would not be spring at all if baseball fans were not fed up with the almost insuperable obstacles encountered every year in getting together ball teams for the training period. Managers and players seem to conspire to make the negotiations appear as complex and difficult as a disarmament conference.

After fans have despaired of seeing agreement reached and are striving to reconcile themselves to seeing most of the best players on the outside looking in during the approaching season, they learn for another year that their fears were baseless.

Baseball fans never cease talking baseball, not even when their idols are on the boards under fat vaudeville contracts or are putting on weight by mid-winter idleness, but in March they tire of post-mortems and records and averages of past seasons. Preliminaries to the signing of new contracts and spring training camps afford them something new to talk about. From that time they measure their spring, though by all the signs and rules of the goose-bone prophet spring may still be weeks away.

The average life of a coin is 25 years. That's what it gets for traveling so fast.

The ancient expression, "sound and fury", is just highbrow for the modern talkies and critics.

It may be that after history is rewritten ten or a dozen times it gradually gets back to something approximating the truth.

Are Successful Women Failures?

Are They Independent?

An Old Fellow Is Talking

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I read this in a book.

And it sounds like the truth, but maybe it isn't.

Maybe some women will be saying that it's all twisted and distorted, that it's typically a man's point of view about women who go out into the world and make a success of themselves.

But this just the same is what William McFee wrote on page 96 of his book, "The Harbourmmaster." It's an old chief engineer on a ship who is talking and he's telling about a girl named Emily whom he knew in New York. This is what he says:

"Emily was one of those women who are the product of the modern industrial era. They achieve a marvelous equality with men. They become accustomed to fight side by side with men in business, and realize their independence. But the price they pay is a sort of timidity in the face of Life's fundamental realities."

(What, I hear a woman asking, are "Life's fundamental realities." A man's love? Babies- Dishwashing?)

"They invent names for this timidity even giving it the appearance of courage. They say that they would not change with any married woman. They compare themselves with their old schoolfellows who have three, four or even more children, but who have a struggle to keep their youth and beauty."

(I seem to hear some married woman saying that many a time she has resented the way some "independent" friend of her looks down her nose and sniffs or pities the woman with a family.)

"I have listened here on this ship, to smart young business women on vacation, and I have listened to elderly business women who are going round the world 'to see the world' but who have never married. They tell me, in a slightly scornful tone, nobody ever got THEM to give up their independence. And I have always been inclined to admit that they were all women, like Emily, who could have married if they had wanted to, if they had conquered their fear of reality." . . .

(Just how does any human being give up his, or her, independence? I wish I knew the answer to that.)

"And there is nothing more comic than the modern woman's insistence upon equality and comradship with men, and her resentment of it when it is offered as a substitute for chivalry."

(I hear a man saying "That's true, some women who insist that they are grown up act hurt when you refuse to treat them as if they were children.")

Does the old chief engineer—does Mr. William McFee—really know what he's talking about?

PIECE WORK RATE

He serves with drudgery and heavy ache
And takes his wages from the time clerk's hand.
'Tis his all day a certain thing to make
And at a certain thundering press to stand.

In figures small 'tis written on a chart
The earning rate of finished bolt or nail.
The money value fixed for every part
And he is paid: "According to the scale."

So much per piece so much made each day,
Deduct the few inspectors keen return,
Any any school boy can compute the pay
In dollars and in cents the toilers earn.

'Twould take too long and yet it would be well
If those who hire could otherwise translate
The money value of the strength men sell
And count in difficult terms the settled rate.
Read it like this: "For certain tasks we give
Fire on the hearth and bread and milk and meat,
Gay window curtains where you choose to live.
Good shoes in winter for your children's feet."

Which looks the more the piece rate of the day
As in the little envelopes it lies,
Or the glad home-place where the children play
Which afterwards that bit of money buys?

PUBLISHER PERFORMS UNIQUE GOOD DEED

When Toy Fook, butcher boy on a Pacific coast liner, became ill he consulted ancient books of Chinese medical lore and learned that only by eating the heart of a wildcat could he escape the edict that he must return to China and die.

So Toy Fook, who has been ill for months, wrote his brother, Ah Jim, houseboy for Harry Lutgens, publisher of the San Rafael, Cal., Independent. Ah Jim appealed to Mr Lutgens, who through L. E. Scoofey of Fort Bragg has obtained the wildcat. Today Toy Fook is hopeful of recovering, and a newspaper publisher has performed a unique good deed.

"Oh", exclaimed the constable, "the three tramps I just locked up want to play bridge and I'm hunting for a fourth."

Court Reform Is Accepted As Necessity For Country

President Hoover's Message Revives Indorsement Of Efforts To Make Justice More Effective Through Simplification

President Hoover's message to congress on needed reforms in the courts is being widely acclaimed. The country, it is indicated, will watch congress closely for its response to these suggestions.

"The more readily congress follows President Hoover's leadership for law reform, the better it will be for the country," says the BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT, declaring that "in the improvement of federal court practice in criminal cases there is the promise of a greater stability for law and order, and this cannot fail to bring betterment of the daily life of the American people." While conceding that "congress is busy just now with many matters of import," The Transcript contends that "if it really wishes to expedite a good cause, it would be well-nigh justified in enacting without debate the president's program as now announced." The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL approvingly remarks: "President Hoover, in urging upon congress various measures of reform in the conduct of courts, is calling attention to a condition that a great many informed persons believe to be at the bottom of the lawlessness that prevails in this country. Every bar association of any prominence in recent years has studied the problem of more efficient enforcement of law and has passed resolutions calling for reforms, but that is about as far as we have got."

"The message of the president is based on apparently a far-reaching investigation of the Department of Justice conducted under the supervision of the solicitor general," declares the HOUSTON CHRONICLE, which believes that "a voluminous assembly of information has been gathered, which should be invaluable to congress in considering many matters of court reform." The HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH notes: "President Hoover appeals against the evils of the law's delay. Promptitude of action and simplification of court procedure are among his demands and very properly so."

In the opinion of the OSHKOSH DAILY NORTHWESTERN, "the country at large will welcome the kind of law reform that will improve procedure and practice, and permit the federal courts to handle criminal cases promptly, clean off congested dockets, dispense speedy and impartial justice, and lend stability to law and order in a nation that just now is overrun with lawlessness and disrespect for law." This paper characterizes the recommendations made by the president as "judicious and well-considered." Not only that but they should be heeded, according to the PASADENA STAR-NEWS, which believes that "the course of justice in all American courts should be made smooth and simple," and hopes "that legislation, so long sorely needed, may be enacted to correct manifest defects in the prevailing system of court procedure." As the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS sees it, "the friends of justice should give united and methodical support to the presidential program, and so convince congress that the nation fully appreciates the need for the feasible and eminently sensible improvements which Mr. Hoover advocates."

"Only an experienced attorney could pretend to give a competent appraisal of these recommendations, yet certain points stand out and can be readily appreciated," declares the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION which it sees adoption of the president's suggestions as "greatly to the public interest." According to the YAKIMA MORNING HERALD "our laws pertaining to actions in court were built up on the idea that the individual should be given every possible protection against autocratic pressure. The tyranny of overlords in the middle ages was still fresh in the minds of the founders of this nation," explains this paper, "and that thought has been woven into the fabric of our criminal laws, making endless delays possible in meting out justice."

The president's references to needed reforms in the bankruptcy laws interest the BALTIMORE SUN, which says in a spirited editorial: "Among the recommendations for legal reform suggested in President Hoover's message to congress by far the most important are those relating to bankruptcy matters. In this field, which, under the constitution, is the peculiar province of the federal courts, existing statutes have led to many abuses." Of these, however, the PITTSBURGH PRESS says: "Many, if not most, of the existing bankruptcy abuses could be eliminated if the present judicial machinery were operated aggressively and intelligently. Any system will depend on the men operating it. We need judges who will recognize their responsibility and who will intelligently supervise the selection and work of their subordinates, the referees and the receivers and trustees and their counsel. In this, as in other administrative and judicial matters, reform cannot be achieved merely by passing another law."

Overcrowding of the court docket is blamed by the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST for some of the existing evils, and this paper adds: "If congress were to provide a system of subordinate courts for the trial of misdemeanors, it would clear the district court dockets of a substantial part of what they contain and leave time for the prompt consideration of more important matters. If this is not done there is little hope of giving the federal courts any genuine relief."

"While individual reforms may be expected as a result of the president's message, the whole problem is one that lends itself to slow and painful processes of adjustment, requiring continuous study and repeated reiteration of the necessity," says the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION.

"The court of justice in our federal courts may seem to the average citizen quite apart from the affairs of his every-day life," remarks the APPLETON POST-CRESCENT, "but in fact it is much closer and more intimately interwoven with his well being than he imagines. That is why the president's special message to congress concerning judicial reform affecting these courts, the only courts over which congress has control, must be made to assume the significant part it deserves in the public consideration."

Discussing the subject from another angle, the HAVERHILL EVENING GAZETTE remarks: "Our feeling is that, while it is wise to make legal and judicial machinery as efficient as possible, a wiser procedure is to get rid of a lot of superfluous laws; get rid of every bit of prohibitive and restrictive law that we can get along without; get rid of statutes that, by their number, their complexity and their interference with normal custom and activity, inspire disregard rather than respect for law. Then we will have more efficient enforcement, because we will have more respect for law."

YES—WHISKEY!

Two "Sunny California" golfers having a serious thirst, played a low-down trick upon an elderly and short-sighted member of their club.

On one foggy morning they induced the old boy to go out for a round, and at the third hole, which happened to be a short one, they put their plan into execution. One of the conspirators, who had made a wretched mashie stroke, ran off into the mist ostensibly to find his ball, but actually, when out of sight, to discover the old boy's ball and put it into the hole. Five minutes later he appeared on the green looking supremely innocent to find the old gentleman in a state of ecstacy crying, "I've done the hole in one and I owe you fellows a bottle of whiskey."

"Splendid' said the other party to the plan. "Don't let's bother about the rest of the round."

TEMPTATION TO LIE

While wives have a right to question their husbands in regard to their winnings and losses in little games of draw or any game of chance in which they may indulge in, it is more than likely to precipitate a quarrel.

No man likes to be quizzed on matters of this kind.

Yes, he may lose money he can afford to lose.

He may make winnings that he should give in whole or in part to his wife—some do, but many don't.

But irrespective of what he wins or losse he doesn't want to make a report to his wife every time he plays in a charce game.

It is doubtful if the wives were employed outside their homes whether they would be willing to tell their husbands how they spent every cent or what they have lost themselves on wagers.

It is pretty discouraging to a wife who economizes in every way to know that her husband takes gambling chances with his salary.

It isn't giving the family a square deal for a man to make wagers that cut something out of the family income for necessities if he loses.

But it won't help break his habit to insist he report his losses.

Wives, don't tempt your husband to lie.

Famous Inventor And Philanthropist Desires Body Be Cremated

NIECE IS ONLY CLOSE RELATIVE

Eastman Built Up $200,000,000 Industry Through Years Of Hard Work

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Mar. 15.—A sense of "loneliness" encompassed George Eastman, inventor and philanthropist, after the recent death of two of his closest friends and led him to take his own life, his friends said today.

Both the late Thomas A. Edison and Walter Hubbell, lawyer and life-long associate of Eastman, were close friends of Eastman and their demise preyed on his mind, L. B. Jones, vice president of the Kodak company which Eastman founded, declared.

Added to this feeling of solitariness was Eastman's impatience with his own unwonted inactivity to which he was chained for some years past by illness.

Dreaded Illness

"He had always expressed a dred of a lingering illness and a life of uselessness," Jones said in paying tribute to the man who in achieving his goal and making the camera "as convenient as a pencil" built up a $200,000,000 industry and became world famous.

Mrs. George B. Dryden, Evanston, Ill., a niece, Eastman's nearest relative, started for Rochester as soon as informed yesterday that Eastman committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart.

She and her son and daughter, George Eastman Dryden, Wilmette, Ill., and Mrs. Joseph A. Moller, will take charge of the funeral arrangements, it was believed, when they arrived today.

Eastman expressed a wish his body be cremated, his friends reported.

Retired From Business

Rochester, N. Y., Mar. 15.—"George Eastman played the game to the last. By his own hand he lived his life, and by his own hand he ended it."

In a tribute to the memory of his chief, Lewis B. Jones, vice president of the Eastman Kodak Company, today made the statement.

He expressed the views, he said, of "those of us who worked for him for two score years."

"Eastman had been ill for several years," the statement said. "During which period to use his own expression, borrowed from motion picture parlance, he made a 'fade-out' from active business.

"During his illness his mind remained keen, active. Mentally he was the George Eastman of old. Physically, he was weak, very weak.

"During the last few years he had entirely dropped his kodak activities, but what strength he had and his still alert mind were devoted intensely to his broad charities.

ANOTHER RUN

Why doesn't she preserve the ELASTICITY* that makes stockings WEAR?

DOESN'T SHE KNOW what causes those runs that ruin stockings and waste money?

New stockings give under strain, because they are elastic. They stretch and spring right back again.

But if this precious elasticity is destroyed, the silk threads, instead of giving, break under strain. Then come those ruinous runs!

Fit, too, is spoiled. The lifeless threads sag, causing unsightly wrinkles, crooked seams.

Lux is made to preserve elasticity. That is why it offers the sure way to make stockings fit and WEAR.

*The Lux Way to make stockings last twice as long

Wash this 2-minute way:
1. One teaspoon of Lux diamonds for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze through stockings, rinse.

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity of the silk. With Lux there's no rubbing. Press in a few dry Lux diamonds on stubborn spots.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens and fades silk. Lux has no harmful alkali. If it's safe in water it's safe in Lux.

Don't use too-warm water—it fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water—the tissue-thin Lux diamonds dissolve instantly in it.

Butler County Man Is Candidate For Delegate To National Convention

When the gavel falls on the national convention of the Republican Party in Chicago next June, seated out among the delegates from Pennsylvania will probably be Dr. Robert B. Greer, Sr., of Butler, Pennsylvania. Dr. Greer is a candidate for one of the two delegate posts from the 26th Congressional District and in the three counties of Butler, Lawrence and Beaver is considered to be an easy winner.

Dr. Greer can be classed as physician and surgeon who is interested enough in his government to take time towards promoting its best interests. He was born in Butler County, the son of Judge John M. and Julia Stebbins Greer both of whom are deceased. Judge Greer was at one time the president judge of the 17th Judicial District comprising Lawrence and Butler counties.

After graduating from the Butler [illegible] school Dr. Greer attended Pennsylvania State College and then the medical college of the University of Pennsylvania. His interneship was served in the Second Surgical Division of the Bellevue hospital, New York City. After being admitted to the practice of medicine in Pennsylvania he returned to his home town of Butler and has been prominent in the medical circles of his county. He has served as the president of the Butler County Medical Society, is a member of the Pennsylvania State Medical Society, a member of the American Medical Association, and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons. For some time he has been the surgeon for the Butler County Memorial hospital.

In 1917 he was made chairman of the Butler County Red Cross and has held that post since. He is a member of the First M. E. church of Butler, is married and has two sons, one a member of the Butler fours.

DR. ROBT. B. GREER, Sr.

County Bar and the other a student in the University of Pittsburgh Law School.

Dr. Greer has been a life-long Republican as was his father. Both his grandfather and his father served in the Civil War. His father was wounded before Petersburg while his grandfather, Major John B. Butler was twice promoted on the field of action for meritorious service. The candidacy of Dr. Greer as a national delegate, i. meeting with the approval of the citizens of the three counties in the congressional district and his election is already conceded.

But Bertrand Russell's brand of sex morality isn't new. People had that kind when they walked on all fours.

FOR 5 NEW HOUSECLEANING THRILLS TRY Climalene

IF you would like to experience 5 new housecleaning thrills, and at the same time find a quicker, easier and less costly way to clean house, add Climalene wherever water is used for cleaning.

Climalene instantly takes the harshness out of local hard water . . . makes it soft and gentle as rain water. So soft it does the work with ¼ the soap you now use. It is perfectly soluble in hot or cold water, and so is invaluable in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom.

It instantly dissolves all grease, dirt and grime, and thus cuts your working time . . . ½ or more . . . in cleaning floors, tile, linoleums, windows, polishing silver and washing woolen blankets. The saving in soap more than pays for Climalene.

One short trial will convince you how Climalene can make your housecleaning easier, quicker and less costly. Get a package from your grocer today. He has it in the bright, shiny, blue box, 12 ounces for 10c and 32 ounces for 25c. The Climalene Company, Canton, O.

• It costs only 10c now to make closet bowls sparkling white . . . absolutely odorless. You do it with Boulene. Just sprinkle it in the bowl . . . Your grocer has it.

1 Renew Woodwork: Add one teaspoonful of Climalene to a pail of water. Rub lightly. It renews floors, woodwork, tiles, linoleums to a fresh brightness. Also good for furniture and picture frames.

2 Polish Silver without rubbing. Put one teaspoonful in an aluminum pan of water. Boil the silver two minutes, longer if necessary. Then rinse.

3 To Clean Washable Walls and ceilings. Fill a bucket ¾ full of lukewarm water. Add a teaspoon of Climalene. Wring a sponge out of this preparation and wipe the wall. Don't rub it hard. Then wipe the surface again with another sponge which has been wrung out of clear water. Excellent for cleaning windows, too.

4 Wash Blankets by adding two tablespoons of Climalene to a tub of water. Use only ¼ the amount of soap you usually do. Blankets emerge fluffy and soft.

5 Clean Rugs this easy way. Scrub with Climalene softened water and mild suds — a teaspoon of Climalene to a pail of water.

Bar Advertising From Mail Boxes Without Stamps

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—Uncle Sam is making one mighty effort to cut down the annual postoffice department deficit, and if one phase of this economy program is adopted, New Castle residents will no longer find in their mail boxes advertising circulars and statements of account without postage stamps.

The postoffice department calculates that if it could stop the direct distribution of advertising matter and sale bills, etc., to mail boxes, at least $4,000,000 a year increase in postal receipts would result. So the administration has proposed legislation which would make it a crime to place mailable matter without postage stamps in mail boxes, and this legislation has already been passed by the house.

According to the postoffice department, public utility companies and commercial organizations annually place in mail boxes hundreds of thousands of pieces of mailable matter upon which no postage has been paid. Some years ago congress made it an offense to distribute such matter by placing it in rural mail boxes, and now the administration proposes to apply this restriction to city mail boxes as well.

Some opposition to the legislation was expressed in the house by members who pointed out that under its provisions, an individual who called on a friend, found him away and dropped a note into his mail box would be guilty of a federal offense.

Local Men Aid Crack Train To Make Record

When the Capitol Limited pulls into New Castle Junction on its way eastward at 11:40 at night, and the westbound train No. 5 steams into the yard to have its engine changed, workers in the yards at the junction can almost set their watches by it and know that they are correct, for the Capitol Limited has an "on time" record of 95.6 per cent in the nine years of its existence.

Workmen at the New Castle Junction yards have much to do with this performance too, for they assist in keeping her slate clean by the way in which they attend to their duties.

As No. 6 pulls to a stop on the main track, an engine with steam up, and a new crew at the controls is waiting on a side track while the old engine is cut off, and they make ready to take her into Washington with one of the huge mountain type locomotives, which pulls the train over the mountains.

Then when No. 5, eastbound steams in at 12:46 a. m., after passing No. 6 at Callery Junction, a dining car is added in addition to a new engine, and the big mountain engine is taken off and shined up waiting to change back to No. 6 the next night. Then it proceeds on its way westward towards Chicago.

The Capitol Limited was put into service on May 13, 1923 between Washington and Chicago, a distance of 786 miles. It has run more than five million miles, and when the Capitol Limited is late, something very unusual has occurred to cause the break in schedule. It is mighty seldom that it is not right on the dot in pulling into the Junction here, or in getting away again.

Powers Tells For What Purpose His Garage Was Used

West Virginia's "Bluebeard" Tells About Garage At Quiet Dell

(International News Service)

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Mar. 15.—Three days before he is to be hanged, Harry F. Powers, the Clarksburg "Mail Order Lothario," today dictated a statement designed to set the world right about what has been called his "murder garage."

The building at Quiet Dell where the bodies of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke of Northboro, Mass., and four others were found, was not a garage at all, Powers declared in his statement today, but "a temporary store room to store building material for a home intended to be built there."

Bodies Not Mentioned

No mention of the finding of the bodies was made by Powers.

"It has always been referred to as a garage," his statement said, "and it has been stated it was sound-proof subterranean. Not one of these insinuations is true. It is not a garage and was never intended to be used as such.

"As to its being sound proof—that is another lie from beginning to end. Far from being subterranean, it extended fully four feet above the surface. It was exactly like any other basement.

Will Hang Friday.

"It was my intention," he said, "to construct a home there, and since the property is located in the country it was necessary to provide a place to store cement, lumber, nails and tools.

"This is the real truth," he said, in concluding, "about the building at Quiet Dell."

Powers is to be hanged at 9 p. m. Friday for the murder of Mrs. Lemke.

Iowa Bank Loot Set At $106,000

Bank At Clinton, Iowa, Ready To Pay Defunct Bank Depositors When Robbed

(International News Service)

CLINTON, Ia., Mar. 15.—Seven bandits forced their way into the City National Bank just before opening time today, held up employes and escaped with $105,000.

The bank yesterday announced it was ready to pay $1,620,000 to depositors of the defunct Peoples' Trust and Savings Bank after taking over 50 per cent of the assets of the closed institution.

Ed. Benedict, a messenger boy, notified police of the robbery. Trying to deliver a message at the bank, he discovered several employes bound with ropes and struggling helplessly on the floor.

A committee of vigilantes immediately went into action to aid police and sheriff's forces in tracing the bandit gang.

Latest reports were that the gang had roared along a highway near Camanche, Ia., heading south. A description of their car was not immediately available.

Bandits Captured

Clinton, Ia., Mar. 15.—Four bandits, who took $106,000 from the vaults of the City National Bank here, were captured today and most of the loot believed recovered.

The money was found near Camanche, Ia., by John Flood. It was at Camanche that the bandits changed their clothes, threw away their guns and abandoned the huge loot when a posse of vigilantes pressed close.

Three of the bandits were surrounded and captured near Shafton by vigilantes and a fourth was seized at Bettendorf, police reported.

Who Was First President? Honor Claimed for Three

Historians Differ As to Whether George Washington, John Hanson or Peyton Randolph Was First Chief Executive.

Though is is popularly believed that George Washington was the first President of the United States, that distinction is claimed by supporters of two other men—John Hanson and Peyton Randolph. According to a new book entitled "John Hanson, Our First President," and also to the John Hanson Memorial Association, John Hanson was elected President of the United States in Congress Assembled on November 5, 1781, eight years before Washington was elected President. However, no less an authority than Dr. Herman V. Ames, historian at the University of Pennsylvania, comes forward with the declaration that neither Washington nor Hanson is entitled to the designation as first President. Dr. Ames points out that Peyton Randolph, of Virginia, who was President of the First Continental Congress, which met in Philadelphia from September 5 to October 26, 1774—seven years before John Hanson's election—was the real first President of the United States. However, Dr. Ames points out, neither Hanson nor Randolph had any of the great executive power, such as was given to the President by the Federal Constitution drawn up in 1787, and under which Washington was elected in 1789.

Stolen Tires Are Shown In Evidence

Case Of Commonwealth Against Earl Buchanan On Trial At Court Today

Earl Buchanan of Big Beaver township was placed on trial before Judge James A. Chambers this morning on a charge of breaking and entering the garage of W. L. Kurtz, a resident of the same township.

It is claimed that four automobile tires were stolen from the garage, and that they were afterwards found on a car belonging to Roy Huffman at Enon. Huffman entered a plea in the case last week. It is claimed Earl Buchanan's father had given a second-hand car to Huffman for work done on Buchanan's farm, and that Earl was with Huffman when the tires to equip the machine were secured. Buchanan denies the charge. The four stolen tires were brought into court and exhibited to the jury. Kurtz identified the tires as his property.

THIN without starving

The Modern Way

Do you know that multitudes of people, nowadays, lose excess fat without starving? Look about you—note how slenderness prevails. Everywhere you see the amazing results of this new way of treating obesity.

Modern science has discovered that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. That gland secretion helps turn food to energy. When it is lacking, fat piles up and vim goes down.

Doctors, the world over, now feed that lacking factor to the over-fat. And the method has largely changed the world.

Marmola prescription tablets present this method in right form, at small cost. A famous medical laboratory prepares them for that purpose. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. The slender figures which surround you now are due largely to the factors in Marmola. Modern doctors know that.

No secrets about Marmola. A book in each box gives the formula—tells you exactly why the weight drops and vim comes up.

Go try this method. All other ways are bound to fail if this gland cause is not corrected. Ask your slender friends who have used Marmola. Go do what they did—now.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press.

NEW YORK, Mar. 15.—Marginalia of a Manhattanite:

Fortune tellers, crystal peekers, astrologists, numerologists, and tea-leaf savants still go about with faces a deep crimson as a result of the Lindbergh baby enigma....When the question as to the baby's whereabouts was put, they were reduced to a stutter and a return of the down payment....And if they hazarded a "revelation," as some of them did, they had to dig out from under an avalanche of policemen and detectives.

Flo Ziegfeld, whose new show is "Hot-Cha," hires a press agent like other producers, to get his activities press mention, yet he does not subscribe to a clipping service, although he probably makes the front pages more consistently than any of his colleagues....Incidentally, Ziggie is all agleam in his new gray fedora and topcoat.

There is talk of naming the Danville, Ky., public library for Singin' Sam, the radio coonster, who was born there....I did my first column, by the way, for the Danville Daily Messenger....Rich tots who romp in Central park these afternoons are not infrequently accompanied by burly guards with bulging hip pockets.

The slipity-slap of a tap dancer's feet cannot be reproduced for radio, in a manner convincing to professionals, except by tap shoes with feet in them....Gladys Brittan, the radio gal, gets about three letters a week addressed to "Gladys English"....

VEILS AND VIOLINS

This reporter must be literally dragged to those flit-and-leap exhibitions filled with highly symbolic gyrations, known as "dance recitals," yet I wish them no harm, and I am told that for the first time they are beginning to operate generally on paying bases....Significantly, however, the teams with exotic foreign names are drawing the most customers, except for Martha Graham—whose name could scarcely be more indigenous....I do not know whether Miss Graham has ever performed abroad, but I do know of several American terpsichorines who have returned from brief sojourns in Europe adorned by handsome new foreign-sounding tags....

But, after all, who would go to see "Jones and Flynn" in L'Apres midi d'un faun?

Eugene "Marathon" O'Neill is planning, those who ought to know insist, to confine his forthcoming play about the American Revolution to standard length....That little theater group in a suburb near here, which tried to borrow some old scenery from the local picture house, didn't realize that it was to the boom in the midget drama groups that film executives have attributed an ominous droop in patronage....

CONSISTENCY

The current issue of a writers' magazine contains, on one page, the information that Edgar Rice Burroughs achieved his amazingly successful Tarzan books without having been closer to Africa than "A Sears-Roebuck catalog"—and on the next page a ringing exhortation to writers to "describe the things you know"....

You have not seen New York until you have glimpsed it from either the Chrysler or Empire State Towers under a blanket of snow....Nor have you seen it until you have stood in Times Square at the hour when the milk wagons go by, and on the Washington bridge at the hour when the sun goes down....

INVITATION AFFAIRS

Perhaps the real tragedy of columning is that you never know whether you are being invited anywhere out of desire for your company or out of yearning for your publicity.

The other morning I was summoned to the telephone to receive an invitation to a new highly exclusive supper club, phrased as follows:

"We simply could not open, Mr. Aswell, without you at the ringside. And bring your note-book!"

Of course, you expect that attitude from commercial enterprises, where it is no more than natural. But a little too frequently hosesses I slightly know suggest that I come around "to write about 'the interesting people' at the dinner table."

FAILING

As I hope you haven't noticed, none of those stock columning similees, such "as generous as John D. Rockefeller with a new dime," or "as cold as a kidnaping clue," have appeared in this space.

I have never read one which seemed to be to have the slightest element of humor.

Let me know whether this proves I am just a dour cluck, with no regard for my readers' taste.

How One Man Lost 22 Pounds

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—my first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now I feel like a new man."

To lose fat SAFELY and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle at any drugstore in the world and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. Ministers Endorse Unemployment Effort Of American Legion

Also Endorse Candidacy Of Smedley Butler For United States Senate

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association held Monday at the Y. M. C. A., with Dr. G. S. Bennett, vice president presiding, the association endorsed the unemployment campaign of the American Legion and decided to give the effort publicity from the pulpits of the members on next Sunday morning.

The Public Morals and Welfare Committee was authorized to send a night letter to Congressman J. Howard Swick commending him in his support of the Constitution of the United States. The committee was also authorized to send a similar telegram to General Smedley Butler commending him on coming out for United States Senate on a dry platform and pledging him the support of the churches affiliated with the association in this district in his race for Senate.

The program of the day consisted of a paper by Rev. C. M. Rohrbaugh, of Volant, on the subject of "The Problems of the Rural Churches." It was splendidly presented and a discussion followed in which many good points were brought out. Quite a number of the rural pastors of the district were present.

INVEST NEW TROOP

At the Second Baptist church Sunday evening, colored troop No. 14, representing the church and community was invested with solemn ceremony, under the direction of Scout Commissioner Ralph F. Davis.

Croton troop No. 6 and Epworth troop No. 10 assisted with the ceremony under the direction of Scoutmasters Wilson and Barge. The two scoutmasters administered the scout oath to the new scoutmaster of the troop, Tom Farrow, while Dr. James Gillespie administered the scout oath to the new troop committeemen, Messrs. Brown and Bailey.

The scout oath was then administered to the eight boys comprising the nucleus of the new troop with badges, and were instructed in the scout laws by the uniformed scouts from troops 6 and 10.

The investiture, which was presided over by Scout Commissioner Davis, followed the candle ceremony, all the lights in the church being out. Twelve red candles, representing the points of the scout laws, and three white candles representing the three points of the scout oath, were placed on an enlarged first class scout badge.

The ceremony took the place of the regular evening church service, and was featured by selections rendered by a boys' quartet.

Scouts are urged to make careful delivery of these, as each circular may mean a job for some unemployed man.

Await Orders On Road Construction

Two Projects Under Construction Now, Await Completion In County

Orders are being awaited on secondary road construction projects here, it was stated by Walter Dickson, assistant maintenance superintendent of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways here.

At the present time, there are two projects which are under course of construction, awaiting favorable weather for completion. These are the connecting link between the Ellwood City and Portersville road, and from Union Valley to the Ellwood City-New Castle road.

Several projects were completed late last fall and early this winter.

Just what is on the program for the future, the local maintenance department does not know, as no intimation has been given by the Highway Department of what will be taken care of during the coming summer.

RARE AFRICAN LILY IN BLOOM

GROVE CITY, Mar. 15.—Misses Amanda and Hulda Patterson, 217 State Street have issued an invitation to those who would care to view their beautiful "Spanish Lily" which is blooming again this week.

The plant which was imported from Africa is the only one of its kind in this country. It is seven years old and bloomed for the first time last year on March 3rd. It is nearly four feet tall and has an 18 inch stalk on which is a bloom 12 inches in diameter. It is a beautiful deep maroon in color.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Annual Novena To St. Anthony Is Now Starting

Special Intercessions Will Be Made Asking For Better World Conditions

Annual novena to St. Anthony starts today at St. Vitus church, to continue for thirteen consecutive Tuesdays and coming to a close on June 13, the Feast of St. Anthony.

This is the big novena of the year at St. Vitus church, which is the only church in this section of the country in possession of a relic of St. Anthony and having the privilege of conducting these special devotions to the saint.

While those making the devotions are primarily those seeking improved health conditions, which have proven very beneficial to hundreds of people in past years, the devotions may be made by any person desiring to be relieved of distressing conditions and this year many will make intercession through Saint Anthony seeking better and more prosperous times here and throughout the world. Hundreds from here and many surrounding points will make the devotions.

Those making the devotions had an opportunity Tuesday morning to go to confession and make their Holy Communion at one of the two masses to be said Tuesday morning, at 7:30 and 9 a. m. There will be a special service at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, when the pastor, Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, will deliver a sermon and give instructions for making the novena. These evening services will be continued each Tuesday evening for thirteen weeks at the same time, with special sermons. Rev. Fr. Anthony Donatelli, assistant to Father DeMita will assist in the services.

A special shrine has been prepared for the novena and there will be the blessing with the relic at all services.

PROVIDE FASTER TOLL SERVICE HERE

Faster toll service between New Castle and Pittsburgh, has been created by the Bell Telephone Company, by the establishment of a high-speed straightforward circuit between New Castle and the Pittsburgh tandem board, it was announced here today by District Superintendent Ray S. Tannehill.

A complicated circuit design was evolved to take care of the "phantom" circuit between the two points, using telephone repeaters at both terminals to meet transmission requirements.

These are the first circuits of this type in use in the state.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

High School Student Is Discouraged

Boy Falls Behind In Work; Teachers Not Interested

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Here is a letter from a mother. Assuming that the case has been reported accurately, it affords both parents and teachers something to think about. Suppose you had been one of the teachers of this boy. Suppose you were the boy.

"My dear Dr. Myers: My boy is not yet 17, but is easily mistaken for 19, being large and well developed. He has always been a very easy child to handle, frank, even-tempered, serious, and moderately studious. He has always been on good terms with his teachers, and received very good grades until last year.

"At the beginning of 1930 he was urged to go out for football. He told me that he did not feel very eager to play, but thought he should go out, because Coach called them quitters and babies, and openly made fun of the boys who were husky and yet did not go into football. He has always been disposed to have accidents, losing the lower half of two front teeth, which were snapped on a teter-board, and nearly losing the sight of an eye when a fellow basketball player accidentally stuck his fingernail in his eye.

"For this reason I urged him in the past not to play football, yet I allowed him to go out to avoid razzing. He became very warm when playing, got his eyes full of weed dust, and in a short time was laid up with infected eyes.

"Every time he went back to school and played football this infection would return, and although the doctor said he should go to school, the school nurse was certain he had pink-eye and sent him home. He got away behind with his lessons and when he went back he said he was certain he could not catch up. He went to see certain teachers about making up what he had missed, found them very much dis-interested (or so he felt) and everything seemed to be against him.

"He confided to me that he was terribly discouraged, and begged to be allowed to attend another school. He said 'the teachers treat me as though I had done something wrong; they act as though I am a criminal.'

"I felt that he was unduly sensitive, and that in a few weeks he would be back on his old footing, and everything would come out all right. He had been back only about a week when it was time for the six weeks' tests, on which the grades were based for their report cards. He asked one teacher if he could not have time to make up what he had missed, before taking the test, and she refused, so he did not ask any others, but took all the tests.

"He was a junior, and you can imagine that he did not have much material in chemistry, advanced algebra, English (based largely on book reports) or social problems. The result was a very bad looking report card, and a terrible resentment in the heart of the boy.

"He said: 'What have I done, mother, that they should treat me this way? I always have had the respect of the teachers until now, and I haven't done a thing.'

"At Christmas time he had flu, and it left some trouble with an ear, which did not ache so terribly bad, but kept up a steady grind, so that he was kept in bed, and of course could not study. Well, that left him swamped."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents, in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear."

City To Expedite Street Improvements

Will Repair Several Streets Soon As Suitable Weather Arrives

It is anticipated that when suitable weather arrives council will not lose any time in the repair of East Long avenue, Hamilton and North Beaver streets, thoroughfares in which street car lines have been abandoned.

It may be possible to do some work in Cedar street, a section of which was repaved by the New Castle Electric company. Council has not yet made any decision as to the disposition of the $69,000 state gasoline allotment due the city from the state. There has been talk however of widening East Washington street.

Council To Furnish Report To Company

Names Of Emergency Workers To Be Given Insurance Company

Council on Monday was instructed by City Solicitor Robert White to furnish the names of all workers engaged on emergency projects being put through by the city to the company holding the city's workmen's compensation insurance. While the men do not receive wages and instead receive food, they are considered city employes and by furnishing the names to the company it will be such a notification, he said.

The company has been paying physician's fees. Recently a worker had to have a portion of his finger amputated. It is anticipated the company will pay the fees.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

ANENT SNOW REMOVAL
March 11, 1932.

To The Editor of The New Castle News:

Dear Sir:

I would like to contradict, to some extent, the piece published about District Superintendent of Highways, H. W. Lightner, sending a body of men to clean the road in Plaingrove township, that was the cause of the school being closed.

Mr. Lightner was notified March 7, and the impression we had, was that there were no funds for cleaning state rural roads. Also the office at Pittsburgh was called, and still getting no satisfaction, then March 9th, seven of us men cleaned the road, all but about three rods, when their men arrived. I suppose their men got paid for what we did, free gratis.

Thanking you,
R. G. McNULTY,

J. F. Genkinger Says Building Razed And Lot Non-Productive

Council met in the city hall Monday and after reading of a communication from J. F. Genkinger, instructed Assessor Andrew Sands to conduct an investigation of Genkinger's letter.

He asked that the city readjust the tax assessment on the Capitol theater and ground. He said the building had been razed by flames and debris would be removed. He also said the lot now is non-productive.

J. K. Smith, owner of five acres of unimproved land in the vicinity of Cascade street, also told council his land had been assessed at $1,500. He asked a readjustment. Council authorized the assessor to conduct an investigation there also.

Many Birds Find Haven In Ellport

Home Of Squire T. A. Gartley Is Real Mecca To Spring Birds

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 15.—It is not strange to see the residence of Squire T. A. Gartley surrounded by many of our feathered friends. They have a perfectly good reason for making this place their mecca.

For the past two weeks, Miss Thelma Gartley, daughter of the squire has been giving them choice bits of food. The continued cold weather and snow has resulted in bringing more birds to this place. But Miss Gartley is beginning to have some special customers lately. Several of the birds have become bold and are daily approaching the young lady for their food.

Among the birds seen daily here are 10 quail, a purple grackle, two cardinals, a number of starlings and sparrows, a Downing woodpecker, and a squirrel, who all feed together. This is a sign of approaching spring.

Frew "Not Guilty" In Horse Sale Case

Jury Returns Verdict In Case Growing Out Of Realty Man's Commission

D. P. Frew was found "not guilty" on a charge of fraudulent conversion made by Joseph Kobus in a verdict returned at county court at noon today. The case was taken up for trial before Judge Hildebrand Monday morning. Frew, a real estate broker, had sold a property for Kobus, and had a commission of $200 coming to him. Kobus, according to Frew did not have any money with which to pay the commission, and gave a note for the amount. Later, when it looked as though Kobus would be unable to raise the money he offered Frew a horse, which he said Frew could sell and apply the proceeds on the note. The horse was sold for $150.

At the time that Frew got the horse at the Kobus barn Kobus was not there, but other members of the family were there, and offered no objection to Frew's taking the horse away. Kobus then brought the charge upon which the jury has declared Frew not guilty.

Disqualify Bass For Foul Tactics

Frankie Bojarski Wins Over Philadelphian In Third

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 15.—Benny Bass, one-time pride of Philadelphia's boxing circles, today was minus a purse and under a cloud here as the result of his disqualification for fouling in the third round of a scheduled ten round go against Frankie Bojarski, of Erie.

Bass was ordered out of the ring and his purse was held up when Referee Red Robinson disqualified him for butting and using his elbows. Bojarski was given the decision on a foul.

The former junior lightweight champion of the world was leading Bojarski at the opening of the third round when he suddenly resorted to unfair tactics.

Red Robinson Acts.

Bass bothered the Erie boy with left and right hooks during the first two rounds, although showing an aversion to infighting where Bojarski punished him with a stabbing body left.

Both boys jabbed savagely in the clinches and it was there that Bass began using his elbow and head to force Bojarski away.

After being warned once by Robinson for butting in the third round, Bass again resorted to butting and elbowing in a clinch and was waved to his corner and out of the ring a few second after the third round started.

Bojarski's purse was paid by orders of state boxing commission representatives when the referee and judges awarded him the decision.

State Has Big Sum Available For Highways

Almost Five Million Balance In Federal-aid Highway Fund This Month

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The News

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—Pennsylvania on the first of this month had in her federal-aid highway fund a balance of $4,705,730.74 available for new road projects, the Bureau of Public Roads announced today.

At the beginning of the month, a total of 3,012.1 miles of federal-aid highway had been completed in the Keystone State, and in addition, 45.8 miles were under construction. This mileage under construction will be completed at an estimated cost of $4,193,848.20, of which $1,917,622.88 will be paid by Uncle Sam and the remainder by the State.

In addition to the road under construction on March first, 32 miles had been approved for construction at an estimated cost of $993,951.32. Of this amount, $453,155.32 will come from federal vaults and the balance from the state treasury.

Pennsylvania would be advanced and additional $5,261,052 for federal-aid highways in excess of the regular fund through enactment of the $120,000,000 emergency road construction bill passed some days ago by the House of Representatives.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Replogle's Rotary Message Advocates Early Music Study

City School Supervisor Speaks At Castleton Monday; Students Appear

Strongly advocating earlier instrumental musical training for public school students to replace the present-day tendency which postpones this training until a student enters junior high or senior high school, Joseph F. Replogle, head of the city school system's instrumental music work, spoke enlighteningly before the Rotary Club luncheon in the Castleton Monday afternoon.

Mr. Replogle firmly believes boys and girls are deserving of this training while in the grade schools. He termed it a "necessity if worthwhile musical organizations are to be produced later on."

A string quartet and woodwind quintet, composed of Senior high school students, played several appreciated numbers as a feature to their director's talk.

Comprising the groups were these students: String quartet, Mike Gennaula, Salvatore Cresci, Helen McEwen and Harriet Blair; woodwind quintet, Saul Waldman, Dante DiThomas, Gale McCoy, John Anderson and William Schoenfeld.

Among the guests were W. H. Schoenfeld, first secretary of the New Castle Rotary club and father of one of the woodwind players. County Commissioner Elmer Conners and other out-of-town Rotarians also enjoyed the program.

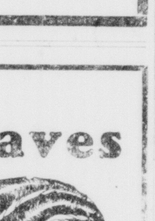

Syria Shrine Is Planning Party

Leap Year Party Will Be Held Thursday At Syria Mosque In Pittsburgh

Bachelor Nobles in Syria Temple, must now "watch their step," for the Shrine is to have a Leap Year Party at Syria Mosque Pittsburgh next Thursday, March 17. That's St. Patrick's Day, too, and there is no guarantee that the Banshee won't "get ye" at a Mosque as readily as in a Celtic Cathedral.

Howsomever, Illustrious Potentate Karl Rex Hammers, Recorder James Barber, all the members of the Oriental Divan and Syria Temple's Executive Committee, have conspired to set the stage just right for Dan Cupid to ensnare single gessoons and elfish colleens who celebrate St. Patrick's Day by attending the dance and entertainment at the Mosque. Benedicts and bachelors alike may each bring one lady. Doors will open at 7 p. m. Entertainment starts at 8. Dancing from 8 to 12 midnight. D. Lee Pryde will be master of ceremonies; F. A. Wickersham, chairman, and the entire Veteran Patrol will serve as hosts to help every noble and lady "smile with Syria."

NEW SHREDDED BISCUITS CONTAIN IRON AND VITAMIN B

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Certified for Food Value by Philadelphia Laboratory

Local grocers are featuring an improved shredded biscuit which contains both iron and Vitamin B. Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are made by a special process known as "pressure-cooking," which retains the full food value of the whole wheat. In fact, the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia certifies each package. "Pressure-cooking" likewise gives the biscuits a finer flavor and makes it easier to digest.

The new Kellogg's biscuits are also toasted on both top and bottom — not just one side. Naturally, they are much crisper and tastier, as well as more appetizing in appearance.

The biscuits are likewise a more convenient, economical size — two just fit the cereal bowl. And there are 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen.

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are very popular for breakfast—and are finding increasing favor for lunch, children's suppers and late snacks. Especially enjoyable with fruits or sweetened with honey.

You can easily identify this improved cereal by the name, Kellogg's, and the familiar red-and-green package. Sold by grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

How To Use Mustard As Remedy

Dr. Clendening Tells Of Simple Home Treatments

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Anent my instructions concerning the proper way to prepare a mustard foot bath, a correspondent reminds me of some other uses of mustard. It is a pleasure to print them here because mustard can be found in every household and it is valuable to know to how many uses it can be put.

A mustard plaster is one of the remedies most often spoken of for pain or inflammation of any kind. Yet few people use it any more. In rheumatism, pleurisy, cold, or pain in the chest, it gives great relief. It is made by mixing a paste of equal parts of mustard and flour and spreading it on the skin over the site of the inflammation or pain. Cover with a piece of flannel. Allow to remain for 15 or 20 minutes. For sensitive skins, the paste should be made of two, three or four parts of flour to one of mustard.

Mustard is a counter-irritant to the skin. When rubbed on the skin it causes a reddening and mobilization of blood to the part. This makes it effective in relieving pain and helping the resolution of underlying inflammation.

The mere application of mustard to the skin causes the blood to increase there. The mustard tub bath is prepared by putting four heaping tablespoonfuls of mustard in a cup of cold water and then adding this to the tub of hot water. It soothes and relaxes. It is one of the best ways of getting a good night's sleep. And for that reason a splendid tonic and remedy for nervous fatigue.

The mustard bath is also excellent for acne and similar pustular eruptions on the skin.

For asthma in children the British Medical Journal in February, 1929, recommended it as follows:

"It is well to cover the chest, front and back, with a mustard poultice until the skin is red. This takes about a quarter of an hour. After removing the poultice, grease the skin, and the treatment may be repeated in three or four hours, provided the hyperemia produced has subsided."

As an antidote it can be used for nearly any kind of poisoning. Its effect is to produce vomiting. Unlike other emetics its action is stimulating and not depressing.

So you see, by the exercise of a little ingenuity you can make a sort of medicine chest out of an ordinary household standby.

Poultice, counter-irritant, pain killer, hypnotic, anti-spasmodic, antiphlosgutic agent, all in one—mustard.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Among the industrial leaders of New Castle in the period that it was making rapid strides forward in the industrial world was Noah W. Elliott. Mr. Elliott was born in Allegheny county, Pa., in November 1860. He was reared and educated in Pittsburgh. In his youth, he entered the employ of the Crescent Steel company and from 1876 to 1885 worked in the rolling mills of that concern. For two years more, he was in the employ of the Singer-Nimick Company as foreman of the cold rolling department. Then going east, he was for six years with the Spaulding-Jennings Company of Jersey City, N. J., during which period he established their cold rolling mill. In 1891, he with his brother, George Elliott, established the Elliott Brothers Cold Roll Steel plant in this city. It was continued under that name for several years. Later T. C. Elliott became interested and the capacity of the plant was increased and in 1898, the Elliott-Blair Steel Company was organized. Under his guidance and those associated with him, it expanded and became one of the outstanding concerns of its kind in the United States.

Kline's Counsel May Ask Second Change Of Venue

Due To "Jury Tampering" Case May Be Removed From Butler County

EIGHT INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 15.—Advisability of a request for a second change in venue was considered today by counsel for Mayor Charles H. Kline of Pittsburgh and former director of supplies Bertram L. Succop whose trial on charges of malfeasance in office was recently delayed until May 2d.

Attorneys Edward G. Coll and Charles B. Pritchard of the defense counsel, however, denied they may ask that the defendants be tried in other than the Butler county court because of the indictment of eight people on charges of attempts to "fix" the prospective jury.

Eight Are Held

Following a grand jury investigation into alleged attempts to influence prospective jurors, Judge Thomas D. Finletter of Philadelphia, who will sit in the Kline-Succop case argument, ruled that the trial be moved back.

According to District Attorney Edward H. Negley of Butler county, the seven men and one woman indicted for jury-fixing attempts will be taken to Butler to post bond for trial.

First Aid Class Holds Session

Attendance At Red Cross Class Continues Good As Third Lesson Is Held

With 52 in attendance, the third lesson of the First Aid Class, sponsored by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, was held in the basement of the First Christian church Monday evening.

A bandaging demonstration was conducted by Ralph F. Davis, director of the class, who also assisted in the instruction.

The subject of wounds of various kinds, was discussed, including wounds with severe bleeding, punctures, infected wounds, etc., and a splendid talk on the subject was given by Henry J. Culliford.

Four other first aid instructors assisted Messrs. Davis and Culliford with the instruction.

DIRECTORS TO MEET AT 'Y' WEDNESDAY

Directors of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association will meet at the 'Y' Wednesday, according to President Andrew Dodds. The directors session will start at eight o'clock p. m. Plans for the coming annual banquet will probably be among the topics discussed.

City Residents Rush For Income Tax Help As Hour For Filing Grows Nearer

Uncle Sam will be playing a game of tag with someone here tomorrow if negligent income tax filers fail to place their reports in the hands of the deputy U. S. internal revenue collectors at their Lawrence Savings & Trust building office or start them in the mails by midnight tonight.

"Everyone must file their income tax sheet by tonight," said Marion S. Woods, directing the temporary office here. "We plan to remain at our headquarters until 12 o'clock tonight so that filers can have plenty of opportunity to get help if they need it."

Crowded and rushed, the second-floor tax office today assumed a busier atmosphere as residents called to receive final advice. The filing hour was drawing closer all the time.

Walter H. Patterson, another deputy collector here was assisting the filers with their reports.

Should filers allow tomorrow to come without sending in their return sheet, the government's penalty will be affixed.

COL. LINDBERGH HAS NOT HEARD FROM KIDNAPERS

to few but the pent up emotions which had to find expression somehow broke through his natural reserve this morning and he cried out his uncertainty and his absolute bewilderment to one friend, so close to the Lindbergh family, that his statements must be considered as a true expression of the Lindbergh state of mind.

"Slim doesn't know what it is all about," this informant confessed sadly this morning. "His plea to the underworld and his determination to pay the $50,000 ransom are indications that he is in the dark as much as anyone as to who it was that stole his child. He has tried to get in touch with the kidnapers through Spitale and Bitz, and thru Morris Rosner, and through Abe Kesselman and through a dozen others."

All Have Failed.

"They have all failed him despite newspaper reports that Lindbergh is in touch with the kidnapers. He would give anything to get that child back and he doesn't care who knows it but they haven't come forward with any proposition as yet."

Lindbergh paces up and down the hardwood floors of his white house on the hill waiting for a phone call that will swing him into action. All he hears are rumors. Hundreds of letters come to the white house every day but after Mrs. Dwight Morrow gets through sorting them there remains but a handful to investigate. Lindbergh reads them sitting at his desk in the living room which faces a large window across which the shadow of the kidnapers ladder must have loomed on that fateful night and one by one he throws them aside.

Many Crank Letters.

The kidnapers with diabolical cunning have apparently reasoned that it is futile to negotiate, while the hue and cry is on. The only letters that the Flying Colonel gets are crank letters. They come from all over.

Fifty state troopers make their headquarters in the Lindbergh garage. Rumors come in from all over. They are scrutinized by the heavy eyed Colonel Schwarzkopf, who hasn't had twenty hours sleep in thirteen days. Troopers dash out of the garage and then hours later come back to say that they have nothing constructive to report. A wire comes that the baby may be on the S. S. City of Baltimore. Three hours later the reports is knocked down. A rumor comes that the baby is found in Crossville, Tenn., or Bayonne, N. J., an hour of intense activity and conditions are as they were before.

At three o'clock this morning there was a report that a couple had been detained in Florida with a child. Lindbergh and Schwarzkopf hung on the end of a phone for two hours until the report was disproved. This was kept up ever since that windblown night when clouds hid the light of a moon which might have revealed the mechanics of the cleverest crime committee outside of the fiction pages in recent times.

Not a phone call, not a letter, not a telegram has been able to stand up under the close scrutiny that Lindbergh and his advisor, Col. Henry Breckinridge have given it. Lindbergh right now is bewildered as to where his child really is. Not once has he heard from the kidnapers. Not once has he been able to break through the silence they have established.

Investigate Frank Berg

Trenton, N. J., Mar. 15.—Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey police searching for the Lindbergh baby who was kidnaped a fortnight ago, announced today that investigators from his office are in New York to question Frank Berg "and to investigate his activities."

"Max Phillips came to this office voluntarily," Colonel Schwarzkopf explained in his announcement, "and related his experiences with Berg and his associates in 1925 when an attempted kidnaping of himself was frustrated by advance information. No interview was had concerning the Lindbergh case.

"The information surrendered by Phillips will be given the necessary attention for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the kidnapers responsible for the attempt upon him can be connected with this case."

No Nearer A Solution

Trenton, N. J., Mar. 15.—Out of a maze of official statements and denials, conflicting rumors and the ebb and flow of hopes under the stimulus of plausible or fantastic "tips," just one fact emerged clearly today in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case.

It was that both police in their nation-wide man hunt and Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh working independently through underworld emissaries were apparently no nearer a solution of the abduction of the famous flyer's son than they were when it happened two weeks ago tonight.

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey State Police, admitted official investigators found themselves completely bewildered.

Every one of the hundreds of promising clues investigated since Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was snatched from his crib in the nursery of the Lindbergh home at Hopewell, N. J., has resulted in failure. All suspects have been eliminated, police said.

The police, Schwarzkopf admitted have settled down to handle the case in a routine way, though the routine is of vast scope.

New Move Made

One of the new moves in the search for a trace of the kidnapers of the baby came when the police teletype system flashed a request to New York police to ask keepers of incinerators to watch carefully for burned remnants of infants clothing.

New Jersey police denied they authorized the appeal.

Clifford Snook, Chief of Police of Hopewell township, revealed he was working on an independent lead he uncovered. He said he would not disclose details of his activities until a complete check showed it promised definitely to result in success.

He persisted in affirming he knew state police had found a coat near Featherbed Lane at the end of footprints believed to have been made by the kidnapers escaping from the home on Sourland Mountain.

Schwarzkopf specifically denied a coat was picked up, however. An out of town police official, from whom the report was said to have originated, refused to affirm or deny it when asked about it.

Snook's theory of the abduction is that it was probably done either by or with the help of someone in the Hopewell neighborhood.

He advocated a thorough search of the Sourland Mountain district, but urged police to use guides as otherwise they would get lost once they penetrated the woods from the beaten tracks.

Useless Vigil

Reporters held a useless vigil in the yellow frame farm house of Calvin Petty last night.

Petty had reported he was accosted by a stranger, who offered to give him $100 and bring the Lindbergh baby to him so he could restore the infant to its parents.

"So the kidnapers won't be scared away," Petty arranged to park the correspondents' cars some distance from the home. Gentle and friendly, Mrs. Petty made the visitors comfortable around the parlor stove.

"Please don't smoke too much, it might bring back my asthma," she requested newspapermen.

A cold crescent shaped moon shone bleakly from the forbidding, wind swept sky. The thermometer dropped lower and lower, registering one of the coldest nights of the season.

Every ten minutes, Petty made a tour of his property, past the three tall pines in his front yard, around the two huge barns at the back. In between times, he added more fuel to the stove fire.

Hours passed, but no mysterious stranger appeared.

At York, Pa., detectives watched the post office last night after a letter was received by Lindbergh stating:

"If you want your baby, meet us in front of the post office here late today."

No glimpse of the letter writer was caught.

New Castle And Braddock Play Tonight

IMPORTANT GAME FOR TOURNAMENT

Winner Tonight Will Advance To Semi-Final Round Of Tourney

Reiber And Hale Will Hold Spotlight; Game To Start At 8 O'clock

Early this afternoon a group of New Castle high school basketball players, coaches and a small retinue of supporters left by automobile for Pittsburgh. Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Pitt stadium, Pittsburgh, the New Castle high team faces the supreme test of the year when they play Braddock high for the right to advance to the semi-final in the W. I. A. L. floor tourney.

The game shapes up as one of the most important of the tournament. The winner will no doubt be one of the finalists in the tourney. Braddock disposed of the fast Uniontown team to earn the right to play New Castle.

Locals in Shape.

New Castle mopped up on Zelienople at Beaver Falls high the other evening for the right to play Braddock in the quarter-final round of the schoolboy championship.

A light signal drill at Washington junior high floor ended the New Castle training for the game. Coach Bridenbaugh has pronounced the players in the best condition of the year. They have kept up their fine work. They have not gone stale as most people would believe, being inactive so long.

New Castle will take the floor tonight the underdog. Braddock's team is composed of very tall men. They have mopped up on all they have played this year. They have an eye on that title this year and they mean business. New Castle will have to play basketball every minute of the time.

Reiber and Hale.

It will interesting tonight to compare Reiber and Hale. One is a guard, the other a center. Reiber is the "spark plug" of the New Castle team, and Hale has kept the Braddock team going along at a fast pace. Will these two boys stay in the spotlight tonight, or will some other member of the team step forward to be acclaimed?

There si no question but that the feature game of the tourney is due to be enacted tonight. The game will probably be better than the fight for the championship in the final game.

In Pittsburgh the dope is all Braddock. They have not seen New Castle play this year. Someone is due for an awakening. New Castle can play basketball. They showed that against Butler, Beaver Falls and New Brighton. Tonight they go up against a rather stiff opponent.

Expect Big Crowd.

In event of good weather tonight the New Castle team will be well supported. There are perhaps 25 machines ready to take part in the motorcade. New Castle's share of the crowd will be about 1,000, it is figured. Braddock being nearer to Pittsburgh, will be expected to have a bigger delegation on hand for the battle.

Tickets are on sale in New Castle up until 5 o'clock tonight. They sell for 50 cents here. They will be 75 cents per ducat if bought at Pittsburgh. They will be kept on sale here until 5 o'clock.

The New Castle team will go by way of Zelienople and will eat supper in the Butler county town, and then motor direct to the Pitt stadium. The regular team consists of Teplica, Marvin, J. Uram, Lasky N. Uram and Reiber.

Kominic, Ruha, Ostrosky, Nocera, Waimio will be taken to Pittsburgh along with the regular team as the "shock troops". In the official party will be Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, Dr. H. E. Zerner, Assistant Coaches Bill Klee and "Gig" Thomas and Student Managers Bumbaugh and Howe, and Cheerleaders Lelenko Babosky.

Lineups Stand.

The temporary lineups will stand as announced in Monday night's paper. Coach Bridenbaugh is not sure about that one starting forward. It will either be Marvin and Teplica, or Teplica and J. Uram or J. Uram and Marvin. Any of the three will give the best they have. The Braddock coach is banking on the same lineup that defeated Uniontown to take the measure of New Castle.

Duquesne To Play St. Mary's

Fans Will Have Chance To See Davies' Five At St. Mary's

DUKES HAVE LOST ONLY ONE GAME

Basketball fans will have another opportunity to witness classy action when Duquesne and St. Mary's clash on St. Mary's court Thursday night. Duquesne has had a very good season, having lost only one game.

The game which the Dukes dropped was taken by Geneva of Beaver county by a margin of three points. The game was not won until after the two coellge quintets had waged an extra period

Not so long ago St. Mary's played the Westminster Reserves and Collegians of Slippery Rock and having shown those teams Manager Travers has arranged to have the Dukes viewed here.

Varsity Players.

Coach "Chick" Davies of the Duquesne university has promised Manager Joe Travers to have his first string in the lineup. Manager Hallohan will accompany the five to the city.

As the Dukes have a large following in this section and St. Mary's has been playing good basketball it is almost a certainty that there'll be no vacant seats at St. Mary's auditorium.

There will be a brace of preliminary games, the first of which will start at 7:30 p. m.

Y Grapplers Meet Here Wednesday Night

St. Mary's Defeats Shelby Hot Mill

Now Claims Independent Basketball Title Of Lawrence County

FRIEDHOFF, URSU, CLYDE, MILL STARS

St. Mary's defeated the Shelby Hot Mill of Ellwood City, 38 to 31, last night at St. Mary's and by virtue of two straight victories claim the independent title of Lawrence county.

St. Mary's got away to a "Blue Monday" start and at the end of the first period led 6 to 5 but were behind, 15 to 12 at the end of the first half.

In the third period St. Mary's basketeers hit their stride and ran their points upward, leaving Hot Mill far in the rear. In the last period St. Mary's used some second string players.

The Hot Mill was quick to take advantage of this move and with the score 38 to 12, started flashing points from various angles of the floor.

Stop St. Marys.

They kept the St. Mary's aggregation from caging any more points but added to their own and when the final whistle sounded St. Mary's had won 38 to 31.

Kulich featured throughout the game, especially from the foul line. He got six chances for points from foul and made each one good. He shot three field goals.

Rome and Shaeffer played a nifty part in the cooling of the Hot Mill while Friedhoff, forward for Ellwood played a brilliant game at forward.

Ursu played equally well and in matter of points surpassed Friedhoff. Clyde shot the fouls and earned four marks from the free throw line.

Play Game For Mayor's Relief

Eintracht Singers and St. Andrews basketball teams will clash in a game Wednesday night on Ben Franklin junior high school court for the benefit of the mayor's committee on relief and every fan who sees this game will be helping the needy. A preliminary game will be staged by St. Andrews reserves and the local Trade school. Eintracht and St. Andrews are two of the most popular teams hereabouts. The first game starts at 7:30 p. m.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

There'll be plenty of sport on tap for the fans beginning tonight with the New Castle High-Braddock High tilt at Pitt stadium, Pittsburgh. Wednesday night Johnstown and New Castle Y. mat teams clash here. The bouts will be preceded by a basketball game. St. Andrews and Eintracht will play a floor contest for the benefit of the mayor's relief committee at Ben Franklin junior high and Thursday evening Duquesne U. will play the St. Mary's varsity at St. Mary's. Friday night the church league will swing into action and repeat on Saturday night. Monday night the amateur punchers will unfurl blows in the armory, while the basketball teams start another lap.

Babe Ruth and Colonel Jake Ruppert of the Yankees are reported in a deadlock. This time it isn't one of those grip-and-groan holds, but a financial controversy. Babe doesn't want to take a salary cut. The colonel wants him to accept one. By the time the umpire shouts "Play Ball", everything will be "okay" and the Big Bambino will be slamming the ball for Colonel Jake.

Dr. Clarence W. Spears, head football coach at the University of Oregon, has announced rejection of a proposal to become head coach of the University of Wisconsin. He said the offer was very attractive, but that he was satisfied with his present berth.

New York Yankees isn't the only outfit which is having some difficulty along the holdout line. Chick Hafey, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, doesn't want to play ball this year unless he gets $17,000. The club offered Hafey $13,000. He is one of the best hitters in the National circuit.

Probably the biggest question mark of the winter turf is 16 hands 3¾ inches high. It is Phar Lap, Australia's greatest living thoroughbred, which was brought 15,000 miles in an attempt to wrest from American horses first prize in the Agua Caliente handicap next Sunday. The question as to what the big red gelding can do after only eight weeks of training looms as large as the five-year-old himself.

Alex Graham of New Philadelphia, O., crashed his way into the singles division of the A. B. C. at Detroit with a total of 719. He sent a fast breaking ball into the pins for games of 227, 276 and 216. The score betters the 1931 championship mark of Wally Yachowski of Erie by seven pins and stands an excellent chance of annexing this year's individual crown.

The probable starting field in the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree Friday was cut to 38 today with the withdrawal of Remus. The seven-year-old jumper was hurt in a workout. Grakle. C. R. Taylor's entry and winner last year, is favored today to win. Heartbreak Hill, an American owned mare, is the second choice to win.

CHARLEROI TRIMS HOMESTEAD 27-24

Charleroi Stages Upset By Beating Pre-Tourney Favorites

Charleroi high advanced to the semi-final round of the W. P. I. A. L. tourney last night at the Pitt stadium, Pittsburgh, by toppling the strong Homestead high team 27 to 24. The Homestead team ranked as pre-tourney favorite and subdued Burgettstown 51 to 16 in the opening round.

It required an extra period to turn the trick last night for the Magic City team. The regulation game ended 24-24. In the extra period the Charleroi boys stepped out to get themselves a safe lead.

Kostolansky, Hugus and Miller were the stars of the game.

New Castle Hopes To Beat Johnstown

Johnstown Holds One Victory Over McNicholas' Mat Team

STATE CHAMPIONS ON MAT CALENDAR

Airplane spins, flying tackles, body slams, toe and scissor holds may be displayed among other grips Wednesday night at the Y here when the wrestling teams of Johnstown and New Castle Y's meet the second time this year. The "Johnnies" captured the first meet at Johnstown, 12 to 8 points, hence the desire of the local grapplers to even the count.

Mat artists the "country-over" are playing to big and excited crowds, be they professional or amateur. As the grip-and-tossers due for settoes Wednesday night are the best that the Y's of Pennsylvania possess indications are not only bright for a crowd that will tax the capacity of the local Y gymnasium but also for plenty of thrills.

There is nothing more exciting than to see one wrestler use an airplane spin or go through a flying tackle to secure a fall and when it comes to stamina and ability to stand the gaff there is no more punishing hold than the toe hold. No doubt each of the bouts will find the headlock, half-Nelson: in fact all the holds known to wrestling on parade.

Throughout Monday the mat boys who will represent the local Y tugged and hauled with heavier training partners to prepare for the conflict. Tuesday Henry McNicholas called a halt to any work and sent the grapplers to their homes with instructions that each and everyone of them be in the "hay" by 10 a. m. tonight. "According to Hen' every one of his proteges is on razorlike edge.

Lost To Costello

During the last two years the New Castle Y has made rapid and long strides in the world of amateur wrestling and the sting administered at Johnstown has not been alleviated. According to McNicholas the pain of the recent defeat will not have been cured until the bouts are finished Wednesday night and the points show New Castle to have been returned victor.

In all probability Ralph Brooks will get the call for the 115 pound class bout and meet George Martin of Johnstown. Brooks was thrown by Martin with a half-Nelson and body hold at Johnstown. Brooks has trained hard and believes that Martin will not be able to pin him down Wednesday.

Cartwright or Christopher will be beckoned to should anything happen that Brooks cannot go on and in the 125 pound class either Paul Alford, champion Y wrestler of Pennsylvania or Tom Grittie will meet Jake Martin of Johnstown. Alford succeeded in winning from Martin by a time advantage last week.

If it is decided at the last minute to withhold Alford from the bout on account of his entry Friday night at Erie, Tom Grittie will be the boy upon whom the chances of New Castle will rest. Tom is a keen disciple of the grappling game and has been making rapid strides. He knows Martin's style well.

Willis Knerman has the call for the 135 pound match and the alternates will be Tony Gennock or Johnny George. Knerman lost to Johnny Costello at Johnstown by a time advantage of five minutes and is anxious to remove the stain from his escutheon. He is one of the youngest here, insofar as length of time in the mat game is concerned but McNicholas, the coach, has plenty of praise for him.

Expect Big Crowd

Another champion of the Pennsylvania Y, namely, Nick George, 135 pound class, will represent New Castle in the 145 pound division and his antagonist will be Frank Kriscy. George and Kriscy 'rassled' to a draw after two extra three minute periods in the Flood city. Nick expects to 'take' Kriscy tomorrow night.

There'll be plenty of action in the 165 pound division match as Walter Adams of New Castle is opposed to John Chiopho, Johnstown. Adams won from Chiopho after an extra three minutes. The bout, however, was ubblesome with activity and the light-heavyweight setto will probably be replete with action as will the 175 pound match between Phil Adams, this city, and Joe Kriscy, Johnstown.

Phil is the heavy weight Y mat king of the Keystone state but when he met Kriscy last week at Johnstown Mr. Kriscy's son Joseph pinned Phillip down with an arm and body hold. Joseph by the way is a former Penn state grappler. Having lost at Johnstown Phil will try to even the score here Wednesday night.

The matches will start at eight o'clock. Charles Guillium will announce the show and Peter Capitola will keep time. The judges have not yet been appointed. With good matches in prospect the fans no doubt will be in their seats early in order to obtain vantage views as it isn't every day the first and second best amateur teams of a state wrestle here.

Floor Tilt To Precede Bouts

Wesley M. E. To Oppose Out-Of-Town Team At The Y

Wesley M. E. will appear as one of the two basketball teams which will be an added attraction to the dual wrestling meet between the Johnstown and New Casctle Y. M. C. A. teams. Henry McNicholas stated today that the name of Wesley's opponent would be announced Wednesday. The team will be an out-of-town five.

IN THE DENSE WILDERNESS A MILE NORTH OF THE FORD THE NARROW ROADWAY WOUND BETWEEN TWO DEEP RAVINES. HERE BEAUJEU, COMING FROM THE OPPOSITE DIRECTION, HALTED AND CONCEALED HIS MEN IN THE THICK UNDERGROWTH.

TENSELY SILENT, LIKE A CAT AT A RAT HOLE, THE FRENCH AND INDIANS AWAITED THE APPROACH OF THE ENGLISH. THE BEAT OF DRUMS, THE CREAK OF WHEELS AND THE CRACK OF WAGONERS' WHIPS WARNED THEM THAT THE ENEMY WAS CLOSE AT HAND. —•

Stock Market Shows Some Recovery Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 15.—The stock market today recovered from yesterday's shock of liquidation touched off by the suicide of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king, in Paris on Saturday.

Improvement in the Kreuger issues here and abroad steadied sentiment and brought a rally after opening irregularity.

The suicide of George Eastman was without influence on the market and Eastman Kodak recovered more than a point after a steady opening.

Kreuger & Toll opened at 2½ on 7,500 shares, up three-eighths of a point from last night's close, and held around this level. Trading in this issues was at a normal rate compared with the 673,000 shares turned over yesterday.

International Match, another Kreuger issue, rallied more than a point. Kreuger & Toll and International Match bonds rallied more than 3 points each, steadying the Scandinavian list.

Leading stocks generally ruled from a fraction to a point higher. U. S. Steel rose above 45 and American Telephone to 125¾. Westinghouse was under pressure on apprehension over the dividend meeting at the end of the month.

Metal shares were stronger. International Nickle rose a good fraction despite its annual report showing earnings of only 22 cents a share. Noranda Mines gaines a point. Rail shares, yesterday's weak spot, were steadier.

The Commodities showed a better tone.

EAST SIDERS DISCUSS SCHOOL PROBLEMS AND PLAN MASS MEETING

heads of families of the opportunity of feeding their children and paying their share of school taxes especially when such deprivation is done to benefit others."

"We believe the present school crisis is losing for the school system many valuable friends and we believe the school system should be anxious to preserve this friendship. We offer our services if they care to receive them in any assistance we may be able to lend in the solution of the problem."

Rev. S. B. Copeland

Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church and the father of several children in the junior high schools was the first speaker called by Mr. Cramer. Rev. Copeland read from a prepared address which showed evidence of considerable preparation.

"I am in full sympathy with the school teacher" said Rev. Copeland. I come from a family where four of us were school teachers. I spent a year as a high school principal and three years teaching and I married into a family of three school teachers."

"We are not opposed to the Edmonds Act on the whole. The real purpose of this act was to raise the standard of school teaching. In making my statements I have honestly tried to present only conservative facts from authoritative sources. In this connection may I correct a statement made last week in the presence of two P. T. A's of our city, namely that seven teachers are employed to teach one hundred trade school pupils. The fact is that six full time teachers and two part time teachers are employed to teach 130 pupils. In addition to this the other trade school teachers—so called—who teach manual arts have a load of four to five hundred Junior High school pupils weekly."

"I am in perfect sympathy with the school board. They have a tremendous responsibility. The question is have they discharged that responsibility? Have they solved the problem in the best possible way? Did the budget committee exhaust every avenue of approach to this problem? We believe they did not for I have talked with all three of these people on the telephone and their answers agree.

"The present proposal is a drastic one, indeed. It is revolutionary, in that it is a direct attack upon the Junior High school system. Is the Junior High system wrong? Has it not accomplished what it proposed to do? The budget committee admits that it recommended our $150,000 investment be locked up and that they did so without visiting the trade schools."

"The second evidence is that they have failed to have a conference with the school principals of the city. Might they not have had valuable suggestions as to a saving here and there a possible shifting that would have eliminated expense, a partial cutting down or sharing of the load that would have permitted us to maintain our system.

"Still another suggestion was turned down. On two different occasions officers of the Teachers Association went to the president of the board and said is there nothing we can do to aid? One of the Budget committee insists that this is wholly a financial problem. If this were wholly true it would be cheaper to do without education whatever in times like these."

Good Finance?

"Is it good finance to turn the key on a $150,000 investment? Is it good finance to say to the State and Federal governments we don't need the approximately $7500 you have been sending us to support our trade schools? Is it good finance to turn out the teachers in a school where less than half the cost of instruction must be borne by the New Castle taxpayers? Is it good finance to turn out a teacher who pays his own way, one who costs New Castle nothing? Last summer Mr. Cox turned out $1700 worth of work at a cost of $700. In addition $1500 worth of work was done for the schools during the term, and the school papers printed which cost but 25 cents an issue of 400 or 500 copies, due to the subscriptions revenues.

"Is it good finance to say to Mr. McCurdy (cabinet shop teacher) we don't need the money you have made for us in New Castle?

"We would remind our financial experts that it is possible to hold a dollar so close to the eye as to shut out the light of a star. Shall we hold the dollars so close to our eyes as to shut out our civic pride? Shall we take a backward step of 15 years because of our lack of ability to solve the problem successfully? Can nothing be done? Something can, if the Budget Committee will.

Mrs. J. Elder Bryan

Mrs. J. Elder Bryan was called upon next. She spoke on the home economics departments for girls and argued that it was just as important to make home makers out of girls as it was to make expert accountants out of boys. "We have been told that certain departments would be cut out of the schools unless we made a big fuss," said Mrs. Bryan. "Let's make a big fuss."

Rev. C. S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton Avenue M. E. church was next. "I do not think it is the time for the Board of Education to take a backward step," said Rev. Joshua. "The members of the board were not elected for the purpose of breaking down the morale of the schools, but that is just what is being done in this step they propose to take."

"I believe there are ways to get around this problem. It will take co-operation and this we are prepared to offer. Education is a sacred duty and we cannot afford to take any steps backward."

Former District Attorney J. Elder Bryan spoke, confining his remarks to the necessity of maintaining the bands. "They are an important part of our education and our spiritual life," said he. "An army or a navy spends tremendous sums upon its bands. Cities and churches and schools must have music, and yet they are proposing to cut down on our band instruction. We boast of our football team, and justly so, but isn't it a fact that the band is a large part of the show when the football games are played?

Could Be Maintained

Attorney William J. Caldwell, a resident of Neshannock township, but a property owner and tax payer in the City of New Castle was introduced and took up the question of what might be done to alleviate the condition.

"I have known Dr. C. C. Green for a number of years" said Mr. Caldwell, "and my personal contacts with him have been most friendly. They will continue to be friendly, and I trust that what I might say concerning Dr. Green will be taken in no spirit of personal antagonism.

"If Dr. Green had started out with the idea that the school system must be maintained it could have been maintained as it is. It might have meant making classes a little bigger for a time but I think that could be worked out. If this proposed step is taken, Dr. Green must take the responsibility for a backward step for it is a backward step."

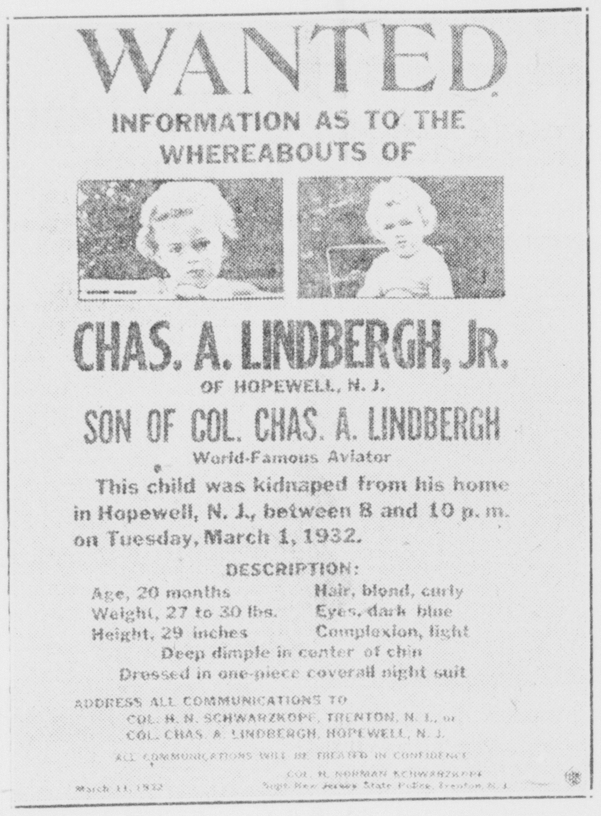

"There is nothing in the Edmonds Act prohibiting the teachers from making a voluntary contribution. This need not be more than 10 per cent perhaps, and it need not go back to the board. There is nothing to prohibit their forming an organization, electing their own treasurer and having them pay bills out of such a fund if it was raised. This would be a temporary condition of course, but it would save the system and would permit the teachers salary standards to remain at the same level."

"The difficulty in this present situation is that values are being confused. People are thinking of salaries in terms of money instead of the medium of exchange. The dollar of today is not the dollar of 1921 when the act was passed."

Following the speakers a general discussion took place and it was finally decided to hold a mass meeting in the Senior High school auditorium on Monday evening, March 21, if the auditorium could be secured. Rev. C. S. Joshua was named chairman of this committee with authority to pick his committees.

Rev. S. B. Copeland, J. Elder Bryan and Gilbert Colnot were named as a committee to call upon the school board on Wednesday evening and acquaint them with what had been done Monday evening.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Providing the family hack has recovered from the attack of chilblains and the carburetor will stay on the job, we are Pittsburgh bound this afternoon for that tilt between New Castle and Braddock.

This colyum has no chrystal ball or any spirit writing mediums on the staff and so your guess is as good as ours. Maybe better. They do say as how this Braddock outfit is hard and high and fast and will take some beating to subdue.

If Lady Luck will just give the New Castle boys a slight bit of a break, things may be hotsy-totsy. The whimsical lass has won many a basketball game and many a horse race, and tonight we're hoping she likes red and black for a color scheme.

Charleroi did the unexpected last night and took Homestead for a ride, thereby upsetting the dope bucket all over the lot. Now if New Castle can just crash through we may get another 1927, when they went up to the state finals.

And some of us remember that night in the Penn State armory when Sharon hung a shanty on our eye.

There is a room in one of the downtown buildings where a local business man hides away now and then. For a while some of his friends thought he just wanted to get away from people, but it develops that his hobby is painting and in the room are a number of canvases that show real merit.

Wes Davy crashed through with another suggestion last night. He's for making concrete derbies for hardboiled newspaper men. The idea doesn't seem to click so hot. Newspaper men are not hardboiled, even though they are in hot water a good bit of the time.

There's a lawyer in town who is half afraid to bring his young son down street. The youngster looks for all the world like the Lindbergh baby, even to that mass of curly hair. The other descriptions fit closely also and now he's afraid that if he brings him downtown somebody may grab him off for kidnaping.

Add more signs of spring. These mesh hose that look like a flock of fishing net worked into the shape of a sock. Why don't they freeze?

GOSSARD

Mis Simplicity
(Pat. Applied For)

So simple... and yet this unique garment contours the figure to lovelier lines. The clever diagonal "cross-pull" of the straps (that button in back) scientifically uplift the bust to a natural curve, flattens the diaphragm and abdomen, slenderizes the waistline and firmly persuades the body to correct posture.
